RAFTMAN UNSIGHTED THREE DAYS IN GULF

Ships in gulf waters are keeping a lookout for William Deziak, 40-year-old Fraser Canyon logger, who has not been sighted since Saturday. He left Vancouver Friday intending to float by raft 80 miles west to Nanaimo.

Deziak hit the news headlines when he shot the boiling Fraser river rapids in a home-made 12-foot raft.

Deziak was sighted by a small coastal steamer Saturday drifting north off course.

Ottawa Boosts Jobless Aid To Provinces

St. Laurent Modifies Share-Cost
Offer on Unemployment Relief

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial conference on jobless relief announced today a modified proposal made by the federal government for sharing in unemployment relief costs will be considered by provincial governments.

NICE BOSS

Workers Given Day Off, Free Ride on Ferry

An afternoon off... and the boss paying for the boat ride as well.

That's the happy state of affairs at the 21-employee Bayliss Neon Sign Co. Ltd., where W. A. Bayliss, company president, and Fred Smith, manager, decided to help the "fill-the-boat" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce.

The "boat" is Mv. Kalakala, and the trip Friday afternoon will mark its entry on the Victoria-Port Angeles service.

C. M. Nelles, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group that is conducting the campaign, cited the Bayliss idea as "leading the way" in the type of support the group is getting from business houses.

"Tickets are going exceptionally well," he said.

They are on sale for $2.40 each at downtown department stores, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Publicity Bureau. The inaugural trip will start at 12:30 p.m., and the ship will return at 4:30.

IRISH SWEEP TICKETS FOUND 'LOST' AT SEA

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Hundreds of sweepstake tickets found floating in the water off West Vancouver were not counterfeit, RCMP said today.

Police said the quality of the paper, ink and the water marks on the tickets showed them to be genuine.

Twenty-five books of tickets—11 tickets to the book—were handed over to West Vancouver police Monday by Tom Moore of Garrow Bay.

Moore said he found the tickets floating in the waters of Garrow Bay near Whytecliff. Police believed the tickets were dumped overboard by a passing vessel.

Tiny Town Suffers $500,000 Damage

VITA, Man (CP)—Residents of this southern Manitoba village prepared today to clean up the wreckage from Sunday's devastating tornado as officials set about to assess the damage from the two-minute twister.

Resources Minister Greenway, who toured the area Monday with Health Minister R. W. Bend and his deputy, said he believed the damage would easily exceed $500,000.

As acting premier, Mr. Greenway said the province would provide any equipment needed to help in clearing away the rubble caused by the tornado which injured at least 30 persons and shattered about six homes, the hospital, drug store, bakery, lumber yard, restaurant, hotel and funeral parlor.

The three government officials surveyed the damage and attended an organizational meeting of the Vita Disaster Fund committee, headed by Dr. V. H. Waldon, superintendent of the Vita hospital.

A press statement issued at the end of a 1½-day meeting said the federal government's latest proposal—modified overnight to give more money to the provinces—calls for the federal government bearing half the cost of taking care of jobless above a set level of unemployment.

The federal government now is prepared to pay a flat one-half the cost of relief for unemployed above a floor of .45 per cent of the population, which would be regarded as normally unable to work for physical reasons.

This would mean federal participation in relief costs for those out of work above a figure of about 70,000, on the basis of current population.

Plane Hunt Futile

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Nine civilian aircraft and three air force planes resumed the seemingly-futile search today for a Pacific Western Airlines plane missing a week with four men aboard.

4,000-Acre Fire

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (BUP)—The season's worst forest fire raged uncontrolled over 4,000 acres in the Ranger Lake area today.

At least 40 other fires were reported across Ontario's flaming northland.

It's Summer—Officially

These flower-gathering tads probably aren't aware of it, but today is the first day of summer—the official arrival being at 9:32 tonight. Michael, left, and Tommy concentrated on dandelions. Fleecy clouds in background indicate the boys soon will be shedding their heavy jackets. Mercury was slated to hit 70 this afternoon, and the prospects for the next few days are for a few clouds with temperatures in the high 60's or low 70's.

BIG 4 OVERSHADOW UN 10TH BIRTHDAY

Molotov Says He's Agreeable To West's 'Summit Talk' Plan

By MAX HARRELSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Russia and the Western powers were reported to have reached virtual agreement early today on arrangements for the "summit" talks in Geneva next month.

Informed quarters said Foreign Minister Molotov told the Western diplomats at the end of a four-hour meeting that at first sight he saw no reason to object to a series of proposals they had agreed on in New York last week.

Diplomats at the meeting said State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Macmillan and Foreign Minister Pinay had proposed that:

1. The purpose of the "summit" meeting should be to ease world tension and not to negotiate the settlement of specific problems.
2. The meetings should last from four to six days.
3. President Eisenhower should be the first presiding officer.
4. The meetings should be held in the Palais des Nations, United Nations headquarters in Geneva.
5. No council of foreign ministers should be held before the chiefs of government meet.

These developments came as the UN's 10th anniversary meeting got down to its week-long program of speeches on the world outlook. Macmillan was scheduled to deliver today a declaration for Britain—the first major British foreign policy pronouncement since last month's election.

It now appears almost certain that the 60 UN members will conclude their session Sunday by adopting a peace pledge, to be known as the San Francisco Declaration.

Dr. Roy Snider, commissioner of the Manitoba Red Cross Society, said after a tour of the area that victims left homeless were being assisted by friends and relatives.

He said "many have found shelter with friends and others are able to live in their homes still despite being damaged by the twister. There is no shortage of fuel or food and there is no need for blankets."

"However, if it is evident that they need help, the Red Cross will be ready."

Volunteers were expected from nearby villages and towns to aid in the clean-up.

Gaitskell, former chancellor of the exchequer, won the post last year over Bevan by 4,338,000 votes to 2,032,000.

Strike Called Off

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Members of the Electrical Trades Union have voted to call off a strike at Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver providing the company will rehire the strikers, a union spokesman said today.

COMPLETE SUCCESS UNLIKELY—CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill said today "we must not count upon complete and immediate success" in the forthcoming Big Four conference at Geneva.

"A period of relaxation of tension may well be all that now is within our grasp," said the 80-year-old retired prime minister.

"Even so, such a phase would not be sterile. On the contrary, it would give time for science to show the magnitude of her blessings rather than all her terrors."

Sir Winston spoke in Guildhall, where a bronze statue of him was unveiled in the ancient ceremonial hall for the City of London.

Socreds Retain Seat But Margin Slashed

VERMILION, Alta. (CP)—James A. Smith, a high school principal, retained the federal constituency of Battle River-Camrose for the Social Credit party in a by-election Monday.

He filled a vacancy caused by the death last November of Robert Fair, Social Credit MP for 19 years. Mr. Smith, 44, was campaign manager for Mr. Fair in three federal elections.

It was a close battle with another Smith—Dr. F. M. Smith, Liberal standard-bearer, a Camrose alderman.

The complete count showed Mr. Smith with a 342-vote margin over Dr. Smith. The standing, with all 240 polls heard from, was: Mr. Smith, 8,536; Dr. Smith, 8,194; Mr. Irvine, 8,172.

Standing in the House of Commons is: Liberal, 171; Progressive Conservative, 51; CCF, 23; Social Credit, 15; Independent, 4; Vacant, 1.

MANY VOTES REJECTED

Two-thirds of the estimated 31,000 eligible voters cast ballots. In the 1953 election, when only 18,240 voted, Mr. Fair got 9,238 votes, a record 4,707 plurality over his Liberal opponent in a five-way fight.

Dr. Smith said: "I am not conceding until the official count takes place on June 29."

Hal Yerxa, Dr. Smith's campaign manager, said the number of spoiled ballots was "terrible. He said they ranged as high as 38 in one poll."

The election climaxed one of the heaviest Liberal party drives in years. Four federal cabinet ministers spoke on Dr. Smith's behalf.

Charpentier said he has heard that Gen. Franklin Lucero's "compromise" government has proclaimed an amnesty releasing most of the rebel prisoners, including 160 navy men arrested last Thursday after the rebel bombing of the capital.

"It's apparent that, for the moment, the rebellion is over and Peron is not the country's leader any more. It is a military regime under Gen. Lucero."

BULGANIN TO VISIT INDIA

MOSCOW (UP)—India's Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru announced today that Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin has accepted an invitation to visit India.

He said no date for the visit has as yet been fixed.

Double-Loving Model to Hang For Murder

LONDON (UP)—A jury today convicted and doomed to death a trim love-lusted model who murdered one of her two lovers when he cheated at her own game of passion.

A panel of 10 men and two women took only 23 minutes to decide that willowy, 28-year-old Mrs. Ruth Ellis should hang for killing her motor car racing paramour.

The blonde divorcee admitted she shot David Blakely, 25, because he tried to woo another woman. She was living with a second lover at the time, businessman Desmond Cussons.

Mrs. Ellis appeared unmoved by the guilty verdict which doomed her to the gallows. She smiled as she was taken away to the cells under the dock at the Old Bailey.

JEALOUSY BLAMED

Defence pleas that black jealousy "unseated reason" failed to save the beautiful blonde. The defence pleaded the victim of the lover's quadrangle "had become an absolute necessity to this young woman."

The slim, smiling model wore heavy makeup and a tight black dress as she stood rigidly upright in the dock.

Her eyes fell momentarily to the floor when the judge pronounced sentence, "You will suffer death by hanging."

Justice Cecil Havers Drew, in his charge a half hour earlier, had shattered the defendant's plea of manslaughter when he ruled Blakely was innocent of any "provocation" when he tried to break off his affair with her.

Mrs. Ellis was charged with fatally shooting Blakely outside a suburban pub on Easter Sunday.

She stunned a packed court Monday when she testified in a whisper "It is obvious when I shot him I intended to kill him."

She said her passion for the (Continued on Page 19)

Building Owners Freed Of Legal Responsibility For Taxes on Tenants

VANCOUVER (CP)—City assessment against landlords for machinery owned by their tenants is invalid, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled in Supreme Court here today.

The legislature's Assessment Equalization Act does not give the city authority to tax property owners for equipment which is owned and can be taken away by their tenants, Mr. Justice Wilson said.

But, he adds, the legislature may by appropriate language impose on the owners of land a liability to pay taxes on improvements which are not owned by them.

(Government officials at Victoria said the issue likely would be carried up to the Supreme Court of Canada, if necessary. They said they expect the taxes will have to be collected until the final appeal.)

The new Assessment Equalization Act has been upset on a case by Reginald R. Orr, father of Alderman T. F. "Bill" Orr, and Orr's Stores, 2770 West Broadway.

It concerns a levy against the Orrs for shoe repair equipment owned by a cobbler who rents premises at that address.

C. K. Guild and F. K. Collins disputed the tax in Supreme Court, where Senator J. W. deB. Farris, and R. K. Baker appeared to support the validity of the assessment act for the province and the city.

Mr. Justice Wilson said the intention to tax a landlord for his tenant's improvements must be clearly expressed and that this is not done in the statute passed to raise school funds.

In support of this finding that such a levy can be made legally, he cited a decision of Supreme Court of Canada years ago when it upheld Vancouver's power to tax Canadian National Railways for buildings they did not own, but which are on their property.

The Social Credit government introduced legislation in 1953 providing for collection of taxes on fixed industrial machinery. Previously, only machinery in unorganized territory was taxed.

In 1954, the legislation was amended to give a more detailed interpretation of fixed commercial machinery, and to provide exemptions on the first $1,500 of assessed value.

Municipalities are required to tax machinery affected for school purposes. But each municipal council can decide whether to tax machinery for general tax purposes in addition.

TAX NOW DUE

The machinery tax was an integral part of the government's school financing formula—it was considered a means of broadening the assessment base.

Some municipalities, notably Burnaby and Prince George, decided to implement the tax for general revenue. Victoria and Vancouver did not.

Tax notices in most B.C. cities and municipalities already have been sent out, and machinery tax is due and payable.

$480 MILLION

The total value of fixed machinery liable for taxation in B.C. this year is estimated at $480,000,000. Assessments are based on 60 per cent of 1953 values, and taxes are levied on 75 per cent of the assessed value.

This means taxes are to be paid on $210,000,000 of assessed values.

Government officials said that at a "conservative" average tax rate of 12 mills, an estimated $2,500,000 will be collected by city and district municipalities this year, for school purposes alone.

STRIKE IDLES 6,000 MEN AT CHRYSLER

WINDSOR, Ont. (BUP)—An uneasy air gripped the Chrysler of Canada plants today following a "stay-away" strike by 700 maintenance men which forced the company to send 6,000 employees home.

Officials of the CIO United Auto Workers' Union were reported embarrassed by the wildcat action and the company accused the skilled tradesmen of "a direct violation" of their company-union contract.

Maintenance men struck in annoyance at delays in negotiations covering demands for wage differentials and an apprenticeship program.

Elizabeth Crew Refuses to Join Dockers' Strike

SOUTHAMPTON, England (Reuters)—The crew of the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth today declined to join a wildcat seamen's strike which has tied up most of Britain's Atlantic passenger fleet during the last three weeks.

The strikers, demanding better working conditions and shorter hours, held two open-air meetings designed to persuade the Elizabeth's crew to join them. No Elizabeth hands showed up.

The crew also calmly walked through dock picket lines when the liner landed here early today from New York.

DRUG UNDERCOVER MAN QUITS VANCOUVER FORCE

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Joseph Haywood, a rookie constable who helped smash an underworld narcotics ring here by working under cover with William "Silent Bill" Semeniuk resigned from the police force Monday.

Haywood, 27, who refused to say why he quit, had been on the force for only 15 months.

Haywood tried to resign once before when two shots were fired at him as he walked his beat on the night of April 25, two weeks after Semeniuk was imprisoned. His resignation was refused at that time.

PARENTS THREATEN TO SUE

Promoter Admits 'Geisha Girls' Just 'Gimmick' for Victorians

A Victoria promoter who billed three Japanese-Canadian girls as "geisha girls, right out of Madama Butterfly" is faced today with lawsuits by the teenagers' irate parents.

D. W. C. Fraser, 3601 Calumet, admitted the "geisha" angle was a "publicity gimmick—a good promotional device to bring the girls up for an appearance at a Victoria night spot."

The publicity reached the newspapers in Vancouver, and the Steveston parents of the girls notified Fraser they were going to sue for use of the term "geisha."

The girls, identified only as Akemi, 19; Sadao, 16, and Chiyoko, are back home after entertaining Saturday night at the Monterey.

All three are Canadian born. They were billed as having arrived recently from Japan. However, the girls said they didn't know they were to be billed as geishas, and not one of them has ever seen a geisha.

One has never seen Japan and the other two, who left for Japan during wartime evacuation, returned here three years ago. Akemi is studying pharmacy at the University of British Columbia. The other two are in high school.

The girls, with parental consent, signed up with Anglo-Japanese Productions Ltd. in Victoria to sing and dance. As part of the deal, they flew to Victoria in costumes borrowed from the Japanese vice-consul.

On arrival, they found stories billing them as geishas just out from the land of Fujiyama. One objected and was told a mistake had been made and retractions would "spoil the show."

They went on with the show for one performance Saturday night. One of the girls said she recalls that Mr. Fraser explained to her, interviewing newspaper men that the girls were Canadians.

"I thought it was a good promotional deal. I have to think of a gimmick now," said Fraser. He was noncommittal when asked whether the girls were born and raised in B.C.

Fraser said the girls' parents "are ready to shoot me." He is consulting his lawyer, and other officials of the firm, of which he is part-owner.

IN PARLIAMENT

Tory Filibuster
On Defence Issue
Angers C. D. Howe

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

The Conservative party filibustered Monday night right down to the 10 o'clock adjournment bell, finished strongly and promised to come out fighting harder when another round is called.

Taking their cue from Opposition leader George Drew, who harangued government benches for nearly two and a half hours in the longest speech of the session, Conservative members continued their filibuster on a government bill amending the defence production act. It probably will come up again in the House next Monday.

Defence Production Minister C. D. Howe, target for most of the opposition blasts on the bill, grew shorter and shorter tempered as the filibuster wore on.

He accused Carl Nickle, PC, Calgary South, of "slandering" him. Nickle had asked Howe whether he pledged government assistance to the Trans-Canada Pipe Line Company last year with the powers granted him under the act.

Howe tried to interrupt Donald Fleming, PC-Toronto Eglinton, who demanded that he withdraw his "unparliamentary" remark.

"I ask you to direct this noisy minister to withdraw . . .," Fleming told the Speaker. He and Howe were both drowned out in the resulting uproar.

Drew spoke for 140 minutes during the morning and afternoon sittings against the measure which would place a wide range of emergency powers on a permanent basis. He started his speech the Monday before. By the time he took his seat Monday, he had spoken for 208 minutes.

But David Croll (L, Toronto, Spadina) said the long appeal "falls on deaf ears."

J. W. Murphy (PC, Lambton West) challenged the government to call an election over the issue. He demanded that the government "get a mandate from the people as to whether they want these dictatorial powers to be in the hands of (Howe)."

Charges Cabinet Split Over Issue

George McIlwraith (L, Ottawa West), a former parliamentary assistant to Howe, said the challenge couldn't be taken seriously. He suggested the Tories would have a hard time justifying the expense of an election to the people over an issue "that doesn't exist."

Murphy said the cabinet itself is "frozen in futility and divided by disunity" over the issue. He wondered aloud if Howe wanted the emergency powers made permanent "for somebody he has in mind for his job."

"I'll be here long after you are, brother," Howe retorted.

The Social Credit party supports the Conservatives, while the Socialists argue that the government's powers over defence plants and the procurement of strategic materials should be permanently established.

"The CCF is right for the wrong reason—and the Tories are wrong for the wrong reason," Croll told the House.

Drew accused Howe of behaving like the Oliver Cromwell of the 20th century. He tried to draw Howe and Liberal backbenchers into the argument several times, apparently to lengthen the debate. He said during debate earlier that the Conservatives were ready to keep the House in session all summer to block passage of the bill.

"The bill," he said, "is unlike anything since the days of the Tudors and the Stuarts," and is "an attempt to 'take away from Parliament the authority of Parliament and of the cabinet itself.'"

Crown-owned Canadian Arsenals Ltd. made a profit of $6,220,000 in the 1954-55 fiscal year and forecasts business will be good this year.

The company's annual report, tabled Monday, said sales of ammunition and other products rose $8,370,000 in the year ended last March 31 to $80,063,000. Of this amount, $28,900,000 or 36.1 per cent represented sales to the United States and Commonwealth and other friendly countries.

"Even if defence procurement expenditures continue their moderate decline, the company's outlook for next year is encouraging and there is a substantial backlog of orders," the report said.

"It is regarded as sound policy to stretch out these orders thereby keeping our production lines in operation over a long period and maintaining trained manpower, technical knowledge, and facilities in an effective state."

On March 31 employees totalled 6,442, a reduction of 13 per cent over the same date in 1954.

Minor Forest Fires
Burning on Island

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two minor forest fires at Alberni and Clayquot, on Vancouver Island, were still burning Monday, the district forester's office here reported. Another small blaze in the Bright district, near Nanaimo, was extinguished during the week-end.

Surplus Butter
Should be Sold
Says Dairyman

Federal government policy should be to admit a loss on government-held butter and sell it to Canadians at a price they are willing to pay, National Dairy Council of Canada president Grant M. Carlyle of Calgary said here Monday.

Addressing the Gyro Club he said the government is not willing to sell the surplus for less than it paid under the price support measure, approximately 60 cents a pound.

"I think it is serious to have held butter off the market,"

The dairy industry in Canada produces 16,800,000 pounds of milk annually, or 1,100 pounds per capita of which 1,050 pounds is consumed in dairy product form and 50 pounds is surplus, kept in the form of butter.

"One would think that we shouldn't be encountering any difficulties in a business of that size," he said, pointing out one-sixth of the population is concerned directly or indirectly with dairy production.

While the industry has progressed, economics had been thrown out of gear by government control measures.

Canadian farmers cannot produce butterfat for the price at which vegetable oils are produced, he said. The impact would be worse for the dairy industry except that the world's population is increasing, and with it the need for fats.

Dairymen, however, are not alarmed about these facts or the future because due to the industry's size "the government cannot see it remain in a permanently depressed condition."

Schools Retain Shift System Under New Plan

Pupils, Teachers to Transfer As Groups to New Classrooms

The shift system will continue throughout the Greater Victoria school district until new schools, now under construction or in the planning stage are completed.

But under a new plan devised by authorities, every effort is being made to ensure that no pupil is subjected to it for a second successive year.

The basic principle underlying the plan, which received the board's approval Monday night, provides that where new schools or additions will be ready for occupancy early in 1956, classes will be established at schools they are to relieve. This will be done in such a way that groups of pupils—with their teachers—will be able to transfer as complete units to their new classroom situations.

Many Classes Affected

Thus, groups destined eventually for the new Willows School will be accommodated on shift at the Oak Bay Elementary School; groups going to the new Glanford School will be at McKenzie Avenue School, and groups due for the new Macaulay School at Lampson Street.

Under the proposed organization for the 1955-56 school year the enrolment at McKenzie Avenue School will consist of nine classes of McKenzie Avenue pupils and four classes of Glanford pupils, the latter to include those in grades one to six.

The shift system will involve at least four McKenzie classes and two Glanford classes of grades one to three and will be in effect until the Glanford School is ready.

Bank Street Boundary Changes

To improve accommodation at Bank Street School and anticipating developing it into a grade one and two school by September, 1956, boundaries will be modified so that 19 pupils in grades one, two and three residing between Oak Bay Avenue and Brighton Street will attend Margaret Jenkins School this fall.

Two classes will be placed on shift in Craigflower School which will be relieved when the Marigold School is completed.

From two to four classes will continue on shift in the Oaklands School pending completion of its 10-room addition and six classes at Doncaster School.

Pupils destined for Macaulay School, including 150 children of army personnel who will be joining the school system for the first time, will be accommodated at Lampson Street School until the Macaulay unit is completed, probably by the end of November. Six classes in grades one to four will be involved and will be on shift.

Development of 130 home sites on the old Lansdowne airport assures expansion of the new Richmond Elementary School which will accommodate four classes of pupils in grades one to three and will serve the area bounded roughly by Shelbourne Street, North Dairy Road and base of Mt. Tolmie, Uplands golf course, Larkdowne, Mid-downe, Henderson, Carnarvon Foul Bay Road and Haultain.

Two classes at Cloverdale School will continue on shift, a situation that cannot be alleviated until the school board gets approval from the department second phase of its extensive building program.

Facilities for special classes at South Park School are being improved and the special class now operating at George Jay School will be transferred to South Park in September.

Dr. Janowsky Heads City's Theatre Guild

Dr. Samuel Janowsky is the new president of the Victoria Theatre Guild.

He succeeds Percy E. George, who has just completed the maximum of two years in office allowed by the Guild constitution. Election took place at the annual meeting Monday night.

Dr. Janowsky will be supported by an executive consisting of T. W. Mayne, vice-president; Miss Bea Sutton, secretary; Miss Fran Howorth, treasurer, and the following eight board members: Mrs. Ida Clarkson, Mrs. Nora Kellie, Mrs. Elizabeth Prudent, Mrs. Flo Williams, Miss Lynn Pitkethley, Bernard Gilie, Len Lauk and Jack Rowe.

In the absence of Len McCann, who has resigned from the organization to take a position with CBUT in Vancouver, an excellent secretarial report was read by Miss Howorth.

Six major productions, seven one-act plays, a children's entertainment and several social activities were engaged in during the season, it revealed.

There had been many improvements made to the Langham Court Theatre, including new act curtain, new carpeting and furnace.

All productions had made a comfortable profit, according to the treasurer's report, with total receipts, including memberships, of approximately $5,500. Cash on hand at the present time is $363.60.

Information contained in reports of committee chairmen, Harold Gelling, Mrs. Margaret Hall and Mrs. Helen Smith, included the fact that membership in the guild stands at 311 at the present time, and that 110 parts were cast during the season.

At conclusion of the business meeting, a delightful French costume comedy was presented with style and verve by three of the guild's leading players, Miss Cynthia Ross, Ken Bostock and Len Lauk. Direction was by Bert Williams.

Sunset Ceremony By Artillerymen

Men of 5th West Coast Harbor Defence Battery will come back to Victoria from their summer camp at Fort May Hill about 8.30 tonight to take part in sunset ceremonies on the grounds of the Legislature Buildings.

The militia battery is spending until June 29 training on harbor-defence armaments at Mary Hill and Fort Belmont.

Music for the parade and traditional flag-flowering ceremonies will be provided by the battery's brass band.

Parade will form up behind the old post office building, march along Wharf, Government and Belleville to the Legislative Building, arriving about 8.45. The brief service will end shortly after 9 p.m., when the color is lowered.

Next sunset ceremony will be Friday, conducted by the band and cadets of Royal Canadian Sea Cadets Corps Rainbow.

HEADS-BMA—Dr. T. Clarence Routley, Toronto, was ceremonially installed Monday night as president of the British Medical Association. The investiture took place at the joint British and Canadian Medical Associations' convention now in session at Toronto. On Wednesday Dr. Routley will be installed as president of the Canadian association, and become the first Canadian to hold the dual presidencies.

All Set for Two Years

SETTLEMENT of both forest and fisheries workers' wage agreements on a two-year basis promises that the pair of industries—the backbone of British Columbia's prosperity—will enjoy harmonious relations for at least that period.

In each case the settlement was a compromise between the proposals of management and union. Although the agreements were reached in the shadow of contract deadlines, strikes were avoided.

The salmon fishermen's walkout Saturday was of a technical nature only, since the fishing season did not start until the next day. It is a tribute to both parties in each negotiation that satisfactory settlements have been achieved. British Columbia could not afford the dislocation that would follow an extensive tie-up of these key activities.

The woodworkers' union has won a wage increase of five cents an hour effective retroactively to June 15, with another five cents to be added a year from now. There were fringe benefits as well. The increase is the first granted since 1953, none having been asked last year.

For the 32,000 B.C. woodworkers, the settlement represents a step back from the immediate ten-cent increase originally requested. The basic pay rate has been $1.49 an hour. But they may well be satisfied that the increase they have gained without loss of pay through a strike. Neither the cost of living, which has remained relatively unchanged, nor the state of overseas lumber markets appears to warrant a large increase in production costs.

The 6,000 salmon fishermen involved in the settlement with the canneries won a two-cent-a-pound increase in sockeye prices, putting the total rate at 24 cents. Coho, pinkies and chums also showed gains. A precedent was established, since all previous agreements have been for only one year.

The two-year contracts provide a stability in both industries that should reflect benefit for all parties. And, since in every case the workers have won increases, both management and labor appear to count on a continuation of the current business index until at least the middle of 1957. That, too, is good news.

While Moscow Smiles at Bonn

AN interesting comparison, or contrast, between Moscow's readiness to negotiate with West Germany and the United States' unwillingness or inability to deal directly with Red China is presented by Mr. Joseph Harsch in a recent Christian Science Monitor article.

The attitudes of the two leaders in the East-West conflict, according to Mr. Harsch's interpretation, "ake on significance for at least two reasons. Besides emphasizing the fact that the world has moved into a new, or second, stage in the postwar era, it suggests possible developments in United States' future policy of major importance, particularly as it is directed to the combustible Formosa area.

The failure of Moscow to win all of Germany, writes Mr. Harsch, was the bitterest postwar disappointment in the Soviet Union. The failure of Washington to sustain a friendly government in China was the bitterest postwar disappointment in the United States, he adds.

But, the analyst points out, Moscow has recognized realities and has attempted to make another approach—along the avenue of recognition for Bonn. So far the United States has been unable—presumably for domestic political considerations—to adopt as evident a new approach to Peking. Moscow, it appears, has worked expediently to abandon a failure and use the conditions which exist as a position from which to manoeuvre.

However, if the United States has made no official announcement of a change in China policy, that country most definitely is not frozen into the position in which Chiang Kai-shek could expect American aid for his dream of a fighting return to the mainland.

As the reduced tension in the Formosa area indicates, and as State Department members have said in private, the U.S. disinclination to support any move of that kind by Chiang goes much further. The U.S., it appears, will not permit Chiang to make an attempt on his own.

The difficulties of American communication with Red China persist. And the U.S. is not presently able to parallel the Moscow technique applied to Bonn. At the same time American diplomacy has not been idle. The easing of conditions in the Formosa Strait is adequate proof of that point, though the silence of diplomatic procedure has not permitted any widely publicized statements on the issue.

For Our Children Too

GREATER VICTORIA GOVERNMENT bodies now considering the question of fluoridation of the water supply may note the four latest Canadian communities to undertake this method of improving dental health.

The fluoridation system in Prince George goes into effect very soon. Sillery, a suburb of Quebec City, has also undertaken the plan, while Halifax is going ahead with fluoridation and expects to have facilities installed before the end of the year. Smithers, B.C., put its fluoridation equipment into operation today, the first community in the province to do so.

These four Canadian communities will thus be added to the many North American centres, large and small, that have already initiated treatment of their water supplies.

Such places have recognized the overwhelming weight of expert opinion in favor of fluoridation. Canadian and United States public health organizations, medical and dental societies, and other authoritative sources have backed the program as a highly beneficial one. By adding minute quantities of fluoride salts to the water supply, areas without sufficient fluorides in the soil are enabled to obtain the advantages held by districts that have been so endowed by nature.

The fluorides become a part of the bone and tooth-producing substances of the body, and the teeth of children are strengthened to a degree which causes a spectacular reduction in tooth decay.

These benefits will accrue to Greater Victoria as well if the residents indicate to their elected representatives that they wish to take advantage of this great scientific advance.

Easing the Shortage

DISCLOSURE BY MR. T. H. ATKINSON, retiring president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, that chartered banks today are providing 40 per cent of the loans for NHA houses, indicates that the banks have become an established part of the Government-sponsored home mortgage program.

Since chartered banks were permitted to participate in loans under the National Housing Act a little over a year ago, more than $210 millions has been committed by these institutions. Prior to this development, NHA loans had been restricted to insurance companies, and many thousands of Canadians took advantage of the facilities.

With the entry of banks into the field, the NHA mortgage rate was lowered slightly, which helped to increase the public demand for loans. Under the plan, the Federal Government advances part of each loan at a low rate of interest, the lending institution providing the remainder at a somewhat higher rate. The borrower pays the average of these two—a much lower rate than is available ordinarily.

Mr. Atkinson reported that the first year's operations by the banks had been satisfactory. He added that "there is no doubt that the financing of homes under the NHA now is an accepted and integral part of Canadian banking."

The Canadian hunger for homes continues, as the past few years of building activity in Victoria well indicates. Nationally, there is still a large backlog of housing to be built up, but the operations of the lending institutions will do much to ease it.

LOOSE ENDS

'By the Shining Big Sea Water'

BESIDE LAKE HURON: Unexpected, unknown and incredible, as I have always contended, is the land of Canada. This dispatch, for example, is written on the shore of Lake Huron where the tufted islands float like black ducks, the white gulls scream and the woods of lop-sided pine are carpeted with white and purple wildflowers in solid linoleum patterns.

Hutchison

Yet it is only a few hours ago that I was in Kirkland Lake, which calls itself the Hub of the North and has earned the title by long labor within the deep tunnels of the Precambrian Shield.

This northern mining town, you would think, could not belong to the same country as the coast of Lake Huron. In fact, they are both of the same basic material, the great Shield which covers, if I remember rightly, some three-fifths of Canada in a rolling sea of rock.

OR again, take the city of Sudbury which produces nearly all the world's nickel in smelters belching such smoke and chemicals that for miles around the Shield has been denuded of all vegetable life and stands out against the sky exactly as it must have looked when it first rose out of the ancient steaming sea.

All those transformations can be crowded into twenty-four hours of driving, or less if you drive fast on the Ontario Government's superb highways. To a British Columbian, who has a few good main roads and travels on gravel or mud if he once leaves them for a quarter of a mile, these straight, paved speedways, shooting straight into the north, are a pleasant surprise.

THE natives drive eighty miles an hour more out of North Bay to Kirkland Lake, some hundred and sixty miles, I have proved by timing them on my speedometer. All of them leave me far behind and no doubt suffer many accidents, though the only casualties visible on the roadside are the corpses of numerous porcupines, who are not equipped for speed.

From the train and the Trans-Canada Highway you get an entirely wrong impression of the Shield. Every train traveler knows the bad lands north of the Lakes and imagines that they nourish nothing but stunted trees.

SO I thought until I burst out of the Lake Nipissing country and, crossing a divide of stone, found myself in a lush farm land, called the Clay Belt—a vast, deep pocket in the Precambrian rock, where hay meadows stretch for miles and cattle grow fat.

This country, I dare say, to nine Canadians out of ten and so, for that matter, is the roughly-built city of Kirkland Lake (the lake having disappeared long since under the sludges and tailings of the gold mines).

HERE you know you are in the north by the long twilight, the shattering sunset, the dwarfed trees, the naked outcroppings of rusty rock and a certain pungent wood perfume you have never smelled before.

Then, turning south again past the burned rocks and hideous smokestacks of Sudbury, you drive on a road straight, broad and unutterably dull, thus missing and never suspecting the beauties only a few yards off.

This afternoon, having covered some 400 miles, we grew desperate for some haven and turned down a narrow side road to discover Big Basswood Lake. There Meha and Weldon Moore operate what must be one of the finest camps in Canada.

THEY graciously fed us like kings (and I felt ashamed of all the unkind things I have said about Canadian cooking) but unfortunately had no beds left. So we came on here to Northern Lodge, on Lake Huron, and acquired a log cabin among the pine trees and the painted shore rocks.

I hate to admit it, but British Columbia has nothing better than this to offer. After the crude nakedness of Kirkland Lake and Sudbury our night's lodging is paradise, enow.

As Our Readers See It

CBU EXCELLENCE

It seems proper to acknowledge the excellence of CBU broadcasting generally, and Sunday evening programs in particular.

The June 11 reception here of Earl Cameron, J. B. McKeachie, and the Marquis of Bath between 7 and 7.30 was an outstanding performance, and good training.

The Marquis outlined the good fortune of his family affairs at "Longleat" in beautiful Wiltshire. His mansion has been opened to the general public as a show place, every day except Christmas day for some years past. It was vacated for purposes of economy, and now is a paying monument to the past glories of English aristocracy.

It is a great event that wealth has of late been converted to good living in a very wide sense, and is unlikely to be again misused or hoarded.

Hitler's war and the British Labor government combined to press half idle riches into new uses, and in the long run taxation will take care of everything and everybody.

To sacrifice the whole world for the sake of military prestige is a rotten idea, and should be forgotten.

PHILIP HOLLOWAY.
Central Saanich, B.C.

EACH AFTER HIS OWN KIND

Some interesting facts throw light upon the question of evolution. God said, "Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind whose seed is in itself, upon the earth; and it was so."

An article in Victoria Daily Times of Jan. 10, 1948, headed "Colchicine," tells how crosses have been made between wheat and rye but the progeny was self sterile, and it was only through treatment with colchicine that a fertile form could be produced.

Another article dated July 3, 1948, entitled, "Melons Never Cross With Other Vine Crops," says breeders have repeatedly tried to hybridize (cross) melons and squash and cucumbers but have never succeeded. It adds, squash and pumpkins belong to different species but will cross; but the seed which results either refuses to grow or, if it does grow, produces a seedless fruit of no value.

And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind: and every winged fowl after his kind: And God saw that it was good.

An article entitled, "What Is A

'Swoose'?

December 23, 1941, tells of the swoose, a hybrid between swan and goose, being one of a strange Noah's Ark of cross-bred fowl paraded before an audience of geneticists by Dr. Charles W. Knox and Dr. Joseph P. Quinn of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and says, "Swoose and guioi, a hybrid of guinea-hen and ordinary barnyard fowl, and other hybrids like duck-geese, and pheasant-chickens, are nearly always sterile, so that the production of eggs is a matter for exclamation. The few guioi eggs obtained have usually failed to hatch. The infertility of these hybrids is no surprise to scientists because they are all 'wide crosses', that is, members of different genera or even different zoological families. Such hybrids are usually incapable of propagating themselves.

The fact of the mule, the cross between horse and donkey, being sterile, is well known.

These scientifically proven facts uphold the fact of God's creation of beings according to His law of each after his kind, and contradict the theory of evolution by one species evolving into another.

(MISS) E. FRANCE.
Sidney, B.C.

MILK—AND A SMALL MERCY

It is a relief to read in Saturday's Times that the Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association has protested the suggested addition of fluorides to milk supplies; for that small mercy, many thanks.

The addition of poisons (insoluble, however small the quantity used) to domestic water and milk, as well as the pasteurization of milk, may kill some harmful bacteria, but they also destroy the good, so that what remains is both unpalatable and lacking in nutrition.

A few dealers still deliver wholesome milk by the simple but energetic process of cleanliness at the source of supply. Unfortunately they are too few in number, and most of us have to put up with the pasteurized and homogenized stuff, or go without.

Likewise with water. If some are worried about their children's teeth, well they might be, when it is seen how children are encouraged to stuff themselves with candies, ice cream, soft drinks and sweet desserts, so that by the time they come to maturity, they have more than poor teeth wrong with them. The remedy here also, should start at the source. It would seem that the need is for wholesome, carefully planned meals, and plenty of sleep, which many children lack.

M. N. WELER.

From Our Files

June 21, 1895—W. J. McKeon has at his farm on Cedar Hill Road a two-day old Shetland colt that stands no higher than an ordinary setter dog and is as steady on his feet as any yearling of his tribe.

Honeymoon for Three

Confusion of Purpose

By JOSEPH ALSOP, From Washington

ACCORDING to report, no decisive business was done between the President, Secretary of State Dulles and V. K. Menon. But only three months ago, this double emissary of Pandit Nehru and Chou En-lai would have been about as popular in Washington as poison ivy at a picnic. So the amiable and even distinguished reception that has been given Menon can be said to speak volumes. In particular, it seems to prove what has long been suspected. If Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek can be calmed or bull-ragged into co-operating, Quemoy and the Matsus Islands are eventually to be given to the Chinese Communists as "the Tachen Islands were given—on a silver platter."

Joseph

On balance, perhaps, this is the best way out of a bad business. But two things about it must be clearly understood in advance. In the first place, the consequences are likely to be appalling. In the second place, those consequences will be the direct results of the most incredible mismanagement in the entire history of American postwar diplomacy.

The chief consequences of nanking over Quemoy and the Matsus are not to be looked for in Japan and South Asia, as so many people suppose. But there will be grave repercussions on Formosa, where the Generalissimo's regime will be shaken to its foundations.

DANGEROUS CONSEQUENCES

And above all, the consequences in Peiping will be extraordinarily dangerous. If they get the offshore islands as a present, the Chinese Communists will be finally and unshakably convinced that America really is a paper tiger.

This has been a strange drama of tergiversation in four fantastic acts. The first act opened in January, 1953, with President Eisenhower's dramatic announcement that he had just "unleashed" Chiang Kai-shek.

At that time, all the offshore islands were very lightly occupied by the Chinese Nationalists, and all were frankly regarded as entirely expendable. But the heaviest American pressure was put on the unfortunate and highly reluctant Chiang, to make him occupy the little islands in heavy force. The purpose was to give some substance to the much-touted "unleashing."

The result was to make Chiang commit his own and his government's prestige to the hill.

Act two took place last summer and autumn. The Chinese Communists were now visibly preparing an attack in the Formosa Strait. The question therefore arose, whether we would aid Chiang to defend the islands where we had persuaded him to commit himself. Three of the four Joint Chiefs of Staff said "yes."

At the famous Security Council meeting in Denver in late September, the President said "no."

The Formosa treaty was therefore negotiated to exclude any American aid in defending any offshore islands.

Act three took place in January. For reasons which are still mysterious, the September decision of the National Security Council was suddenly altered. Now, instead of defending no islands at all, we were to help in the defense of Quemoy and the Matsus. If the Generalissimo would evacuate the Tachens.

This change of American policy was formally communicated to the Formosa government by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, through Chinese Foreign Minister George Yen.

The Formosa resolution, authorizing the President to use American forces to defend "any area essential" to the security of Formosa, was then before the Congress. Dulles told Yen that if the Generalissimo would abandon the Tachen Islands, the President would publicly declare that Quemoy and the Matsus were "essential" to Formosa's security as soon as the Formosa resolution had been passed.

WRITTEN PROMISE

Dulles further gave Yen a written minute of this verbal communication, which amounted to a promise of a Presidential guarantee of the offshore islands. On the basis of this minute, when the Formosa resolution was finally approved, the American Ambassador in Taipei, Karl Rankin, actually told a press conference that Quemoy and the Matsus would be guaranteed over the weekend. But meanwhile act four was already beginning.

Almost as Rankin spoke to the press, Assistant Secretary of State Walter Robertson was explaining to the dumbfounded Yen that there had been a little misunderstanding between the President and his Secretary of State. The President, it seemed, was not going to guarantee Quemoy and the Matsus after all.

TALK CONTINUED

Meanwhile, however, nothing was done to stop the big, bold talk about defending Quemoy and the Matsus by other leaders of the Administration. That bluff went on till the famous Admiral Carney dinner in April.

Consider this history. The abandonment of Quemoy and the Matsus would do little damage on Formosa; if it had not been for acts one and two of the foregoing drama. It would do little damage in Peiping, either, if it had not been for acts three and four.

These acts repeated the pattern of big, bold talk followed by slow surrender that was traced out by the administration leadership in the Dienbienphu-Geneva period. After this double demonstration of phonyhood, why on earth should Peiping worry, no matter what America says?

A Dream That Came True

I saw a dream come true today, and Canada plays an important part in it.

During my very first survey tour of Greece in 1948, I met 12-year-old Sophocles Kristou, who had been mutilated by a German howitzer which smashed his family's cabin on the outskirts of Athens, tearing off both his hands and one eye. Now, Sophocles is getting ready to leave for Berne, Switzerland, next month, to exhibit there 50 of his own pen and ink drawings.

His story sounds like a fairy tale. Left with only one eye and nothing but stumps for arms and hands, the boy learned to write, holding his pen between the stumps. It was a slow, patient struggle, carried out with infinite patience and determination, but one day he reached his goal—he could write better at school than all other pupils of his age!

When he was 19, Sophocles started attending the Athens School of Painting and soon became one of his professors' outstanding pupils. In the daytime, he worked to earn money; at night, he studied, and life was not easy. But he carried on, touring parts of Greece and the islands to sketch with deftness and deep feeling.

His first public success came in 1953 when he exhibited in Athens and sold 45 drawings. A year later followed his exhibit in Crete, and now the Greek community in Berne has agreed to sponsor a show in Switzerland.

All this, Sophocles could not have accomplished without the help of his Canadian friends. Through the Unitarian Service Committee, funds were raised to see him and his family through the hungry postwar years, when both parents, the young artist, and one smaller brother and sister lived in a single damp room and often went for days without eating.

The largest part of his university fees, the rent for his workshop, as well as his material, are all being paid by a small group of Canadian benefactors. Funds will be necessary for another two years, until Sophocles graduates in June, 1957.

This is no doubt the least known of any Canadian projects in Greece, but one day, when Sophocles Kristou's talent—and above all—his personal courage, will be internationally recognized, his friends far away will be justly proud.

FOR LOVE

This attitude of regarding the amateur as something higher than the professional makes Britain almost the only country where there are genuine amateurs left, where politicians paint, soldiers write poetry, poets write detective novels, duchesses act—where lay preachers, lay teachers, and lay healers command a great following and even professional football players like to preserve something amateurish in their character.

City of Contrasts

(This is the eighth in a series of columns on CPA's recent trans-polar flight to Amsterdam and way stations.)

PARIS, to me, has always been a city of paradoxes. It is a city of handsome boulevards and incredibly beautiful statuary, conceived by imaginative artists. It is also a city of grasping venality and a gaudy array of sordid mantraps. It is a city of noble churches whose messages don't appear to be getting across. It is a city in which a poster advertising Billy Graham, the evangelist, is plastered on a brick wall beside a semi-nude picture boasting some obscure floor show.

Keate

The economics of the place baffle me. Along the Champs-Elysee, you can get deaf from the rattle of champagne corks off the ceilings. Yet, along the Seine at night, you can see people foraging for scraps in garbage-cans. An expatriate American magazine writer tells you that the average salary for a good stenographer is $125 a month and that they are shunted around eight times a year in a quest for some place to live. Yet they dress like Vogue models and look better-fed.

Perhaps the answer to all this is that you should not ask the cold, dull, pragmatic Canadian questions. You should love Paris, like Social Credit, in a blind, unreasoning way and thus aspire to the "life eternal."

Within 24 hours of our arrival we had taken a look at the "new" and the "old" France. To step from the Club Lido to the mirrored halls of Versailles is to take a roller-coaster ride through history.

The floor show we saw at the Lido was, in the opinion of virtually each one of us, the finest thing of its kind in the world. It had zest, pace and imagination; it had marionettes, a magnificent impersonator named George Matson, a blackamoor who ate fire, an ice-skating act, and a tumbler who took a glass of champagne from Ray Williston, put it on a tray, and did a complete backflip without spilling a drop.

It also had girls—and I suppose this is as good a place as any to record the sombre fact that, had this show been staged in Canada, the gendarmes would have been out on the double, with their padlocks. It is a curious fact that, in parts of America, we permit the showing of the sordid and unlavishly "strip-tease," yet frown on semi-nudity. The Parisians consider the female form a work of art and treat it with appropriate respect. The Lido show is in impeccable taste; there wasn't a vulgar item in the entire two-hour production.

All of which leads me to believe that Sakini, that wise rascal of "Teahouse of the August Moon," was right when he philosophized:

"In America, is crime to take picture of girl bare from waist up; in France is crime to take picture of girl covered from waist up. Conclusion: pornography is matter of geography."

At Versailles the next day we tramped over cobblestoned squares, redolent of revolutionary blood, and examined "La Gloire de la France." Our guide was a wonderful old French woman who said to us, in dramatic tones:

"Listen carefully in these halls, gentlemen, and you will hear the rustle of silk. In this rustle you will recall the memory of the unhappy wives."

She took us to the room where Louis lay dying and showed us the secret cannoer through which Marie fled for her celebrated drive to Paris. She showed us a salon in which a six-year-old boy named Mozart came to play for the King. She showed us Louis' library, now being restored, and the rococo ceilings with their legendary stories of Mars and Apollo. And it was clear that she had been born 250 years too late when she said, a bit defiantly: "The glory of France lives forever in these buildings."

We paused in our tour of these gilded salons to look out at the magnificent panorama of pools and gardens which Louis had created, stretching away to the ends of the estate on the Allee Royale.

A Seattle newspaperman named Byron Fish (the voice of the 20th century?) became enthusiastic for the first time. "This I can understand," he said. "This is fine. That other stuff—that artwork on the ceilings, those tapestries and statues—is all pooney."

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

Perhaps the Cradle

YESTERDAY, I'm told, the tide was out further than it will be at any other time this year. This is the season for extreme low water.

At the beach stretches of eel grass lay exposed. Green-brown reefs, usually well under the surface, rose in forbidding, barnacled hills from the ooze. Marine life seemed to breathe with the tired respiration of an invalid, and gave the air a heavy sulphurous reek from its exhalation.

It was a time to probe mysteries usually hidden in the depths. It was a time when a person might wish for more knowledge of an alien world so close to those who live on the waterfront.

Stott

On the low reaches of shore rock dainty marine growth conventionally seen as a pattern of waving fronds in the water lay supine, iridescent in the sun. Plants that look like animals and probably animals that look like plants were displayed for inspection by anyone who could keep his balance on the slippery, seaweed-covered slopes or who didn't mind a few bruises and cuts if he fell.

CLAM CHATTER

A father in shorts walked gingerly over the exposed sludge, placing his feet carefully to avoid sinking in over his shins. Behind him a son, aping the shuffling and foot placement of the adult, talked cheerily about clams.

"They make these holes," he explained in a grave treble to his father, pointing to the honey-combed surface of the soft, muddy sand, "and when you step beside them or on them, the clam gives a squirt at you."

They walked carefully along, discussing the muscle which a bivalve uses to close itself tight against attack, and they prodded with a stick among the eel grass.

Nearby, small boys moved rocks to watch the small crabs scuttle away and to shout in delight at the writhing ribbon length of an eel.

On the small island in the bay, submerged at high tide, another group prodded with twigs at anemones, telling the age-old and false story that children invariably tell about the growth: "Blood-suckers, see? If you put your toe in them and they're open in the water, they suck your blood. Ugh. Let's move."

SO LITTLE WE KNOW

So the small fry on the beach wandered, all uninformed through simple explorations of biology. And an adult, wishing they might know more of what they saw, was impressed with his own ignorance.

At low tide, in the ooze of the sea bottom, you're seeing the ooze of stuff in which some scientists speculate that life began.

In it are minerals, chemicals, the ingredients of growth and decay, and moisture. Of such materials, one school of thought believes, some compound may have developed and in come miraculous transformation, acquired the ability to reproduce itself.

The scientists suggest that if this happened, the product would be a life form infinitely simpler than an amoeba. And such forms could not survive today.

Since that far off time of life's speculative beginning on this planet, they suggest, other forms have arisen which would prey on the original, causing its extinction.

The theory is of little moment to the boy who trudged behind his father in careful imitation of the adult's walk and talked of squirting clams. Yet it lends new interest to the shore at low tide, makes the sludge in which the eel grass sets its roots a substance not only of teeming life but of the mystery.

This might have been the cradle.

Reservists Plan Training Cruise To San Francisco

Reserve officers and men of HMCS Nonsuch leave Edmonton June 28 for Esquimalt to start an 11-day training cruise to San Francisco.

The three ships to be used in the cruise will be HMCS Brockville and HMCS Dirby, coastal class vessels, and HMCS Cordova, coastal minesweeper, class.

It is the first time in the history of the RCN summer training program that a reserve naval division has manned three ships for one cruise. In the past training posts were manned by reserve men from various naval divisions.

A total of 72 officers and men will participate.

The voyage to San Francisco will be the fourth of a series of eight summer cruises for naval reserves in the Pacific Command.

The training cruise leaves here July 4.

'ECLIPSE SICKNESS' HOSPITALIZES 6,000

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UP)—More than 6,000 persons were hospitalized in Ceylon today from "eclipse sickness" brought on by drinking a "magic potion" they thought would bring them beauty, wisdom, health and vitality.

The mixture contained vadakaha, a sedative used in Ayur-Vedic medicine with ghee, a semi-fluid butter, and king coconut water. The results were nausea, vomiting and diarrhoea with severe stomach pains.

Esquimalt Approves Saxe Pt. Breakwater

Anglers to Pay for Construction Of Rock Causway at Mouth of Bay

Esquimalt and District Anglers' Association's plan to construct a breakwater at Saxe Point Beach received the "blessing" Monday night of the municipal council.

In addition to providing shelter for small boats, anglers pointed out the breakwater also would improve swimming facilities at the beach.

About 3,000 yards of rock and earth fill would be used to make a short causeway from rocks near the northern end of the beach to a small rock island a few yards offshore, partly closing the mouth of the bay.

Clr. G. K. Sammon said it would be an asset to the community to improve Saxe Point beach, and by supporting the anglers' proposal, the job may be finished without cost to the municipality.

A sewage system for Admirals Road, estimated to cost $162,000, will be initiated by the municipality rather than by the originally proposed local improvement petition.

Municipal engineer John Graeme said there was difficulty in obtaining the correct number of names for a local improvement petition due to the fact that many landowners were not in the city, and both husband and wife must sign such a petition.

It would save further delay in construction of the project and save sending the petition "all over the place," the engineer said.

A by-law will be prepared to alter bus stops on the Colville and Munro route as recommended by Esquimalt police chief Gilbert Stancombe.

A public hearing on changes in Esquimalt zoning by-law will be held before the next meeting of council July 4, councillors agreed Monday. They heard an application from Admirals Road

Canadian Troops Accused of Pillage

Terrorize Germany With Rape, Beatings, Damages Dusseldorf Paper Charges

DUESSELDORF, Germany (CP)—The Dusseldorf newspaper Der Mittag says Canadian soldiers are terrorizing German civilians in the Paderborn area "as though this were 1945" and the area "lay east of the Elbe (Russian territory)."

Der Mittag says there has scarcely been a day in the last few weeks in which Canadian soldiers at Sennelager training camp had not "come into public attention in an annoying way."

It says "girls are attacked and raped, civilians are beaten up, inns are flattened..."

"Even if it be granted that in a group of soldiers of 5,000 men who lack suitable outlets for their spirit of enterprise there can easily be a portion of criminality and rowdiness, it does seem that these sons from the sea of the great furors mistake their mission on the old continent."

This is unfortunate, the paper says, for Germans had so far had a solid portion of good will for the Canadians. Whole generations of students were under the firm impression that all "better types" from overseas came preferably from the area of the St. Lawrence.

But it says one in whom this belief was thoroughly destroyed was the innkeeper "at whose head our Canadian guests threw a full bottle of spirits during the beer hall fight in Augustdorf last Thursday night."

When he looks at the bump on his temple today he may fairly have his own ideas about Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's hurry about the Paris treaties.

As One Sportsman to Another

Babe Ruth Baseball League teams will be playing for the Wagner Trophy this year, Larry Wagner, left, presenting league president Bert Nex with the new award Monday. (Times photo).

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Pickin' up the pieces, or one fellow who has found that other fields really are greener, is Berlyn Hodges.

The former Tyee southpaw with his big jughandle curve and who most of the time seemed just one pitch short of being a winner in the Western International League has found the range for Eugene in the Northwest League.

At last report and that was this week-end, Berlyn was leading all flingers in the circuit with an 8.0 record. His earned-run average approximates something like 1.2 runs per nine-inning contest.

It is pleasing to see such a showing by Hodges. He never lacked for heart when he was with the Tyees, and it could be that he'll be a starter for Portland in the Coast League before the season is too much older.

Want to know the percentage of 600 series in the American Bowling Congress? It's one for 14 entrants. Speaking of Bowling (names still make the news although the sport is slightly out of season for the time being) Alex McKeachie and Elmer Curtis picked up prize money totaling $17 in the Northwest Bowling Congress tourney . . . and think that 7-10 split is really the bugbear it's cracked up to be? Seventy-nine bowlers in the ABC will tell you otherwise. That's the number of times the 7-10 was picked up. . . .

If there was a Hart Trophy for sportsmanship and clean play in the Inter-city Lacrosse League, Cliff Sepka of the New Westminster Salmonbellies who play here Wednesday night, would undoubtedly be a leading candidate for the honor. . . . Going into Wednesday's game here Sepka has not yet incurred a penalty; besides that he has 21 goals and nine assists to show for his talent. . . . Nip O'Hearn is usually accorded the honor of being the peer of the Shamrock playmakers, but the fellow leading the pack this season is Bill Bamford with 17 assists, only one shy of league leader Arnie Duggan. . . .

A visitor to Seattle over the week-end, staffer Pete Salla reports that former Athletic Leo Righetti is niftier than when he left, a trifle heavier, playing good ball for the Rainiers, and wishes to be remembered to all his former friends in the city. . . . Gene Sarazen was a fine golfer in his day, but it's more than possible that, except for the take-home pay, Gene is running the day he accepted the offer to emcee the TV presentation of the U.S. Open Saturday. . . . Gene tried hard to give Ben Hogan the title before Jack Fleck had finished his round, later flatly predicted a Hogan victory, and then left the screen refusing to give Fleck a chance of earning a tie with Hogan which as everyone knows by now, is probably the biggest "skull" performed in a national event in some time. . . . However, give credit to Hogan—he refused to accept the honor. And how right he was.

Three dot stuff . . . visitor in town last week was Bud Poile, coach of the WHL champion Edmonton Flyers. . . . A direct "no" was Cougar general manager Fred Hutchinson's answer to the query if a satisfactory lease had been negotiated with the Memorial Arena Commission. . . . The controversy concerning Shamrock import Bob Dobbie will likely be decided following a trip to eastern Canada by Inter-city Lacrosse League secretary Tom Gordon. . . . the status of other questionable imports will also be discussed between Gordon and OLA officials. . . . the note in the post was from Ernie Fox, now holidaying in Minnesota. . . . he passes on "hellos" to everyone. . . . and don't forget the SOLARIUM DERBY. . . . it's the sportsman's way of helping the crippled children. . . . best part of the deal is you don't even have to fish to win a prize and you know where every cent of your money is going. . . .

Don Eyes Homer Mark, But Red's Title Safe

NEW YORK (AP)—The next home-run Don Newcombe hits will enable him to equal the record for most home runs in a season by a four major league pitcher. He needs four more four-baggers for a new season record for all major-league pitchers.

Hal Schumacher of the 1934 New York Giants and Jim Tobin of the 1942 Boston Braves are the National League record-holders with six homers each. Wes Ferrell of the 1931 Cleveland Indians is the major-league record-holder with nine. Newcombe has hit five this year and still has more than half a season left.

Big New's sudden spurge into slugging prominence has placed him in a tie for seventh in lifetime homers among active major-league pitchers.

Cleveland's Bob Lemon ranks No. 1 with 30. Early Wynn, his teammate, is second with 11, one more than the National League leader, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee.

Bob Feller, another Indian, is fourth with eight. Tied for fifth and sixth are Jim Hearn of Giants and Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati Redlegs. Each has seven. Newcombe and Paul Minner of Chicago Cubs share seventh place with six each.

Despite his total Lemon ranks only third among lifetime leaders. The title of "Babe Ruth of the pitchers" goes to Red Ruffing, who pounded out 37 home runs in 21 big league seasons, three more than runner-up Wes Ferrell in 13 seasons. Tobin is the National League home-run king of pitchers with 16.

ANGLERS-TIMES EVENT SET JULY 24

Solarium Derby Day Draws Near

July 24. It's just a little more than a month away. Mark it down in your little book of important events.

For that's the date of the 10th annual Solarium Derby, co-sponsored by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers Association and The Victoria Daily Times, who count themselves lucky to have the opportunity of joining such a worthwhile venture.

The anglers and the Times sponsor the big one-day fish-fest in Saanich Inlet. They supply the prizes and take care of the preparations and the paper work. But it is up to the public to make the derby a success.

Every cent of the proceeds is turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, to continue the work of restoring strength to crippled children. Since the start of the derby, in 1946, the anglers have had the pleasure of turning over $26,000 to the Solarium, a tremendous contribution from one organization. The first year's derby realized $1,000. Last year, a cheque for $6,700 was turned over. Only in one year has the derby total failed to surpass the total of the previous year.

WES FULTON
... derby chief

Breakdown of the derby proceeds—looks like this: 1946, $1,000; 1947, $1,511; 1948, $1,520; 1949, $2,418; 1950, $1,600; 1951, $2,426; 1952, $2,762; 1953, $6,008; 1954, $6,700.

There's a reason for the success of the derby—hard work. That and the wholehearted response of the public in past years.

There will be prizes galore, whether you want to fish in the derby or if you just want to buy a ticket to help put the derby over. The biggest prize of all, and you don't have to fish for it, will look pretty classy sitting in your garage.

Other prizes will include household appliances, boats, clothing, fishing gear and sports equipment.

The entire prize list will be released later.

Tickets are on sale right now. They may be obtained from any member of the VSIAA, the Times sports department, sporting goods stores and bookshops.

Derby chairman is Wes Fulton.

July 24.

It's just a little more than a month away.

Mark it down in your little book of Important Events.

FISH STORIES OKAYED—THEY COST ENOUGH!

GUELPH, Ont. (UP)—Let the fisherman tell his lies. They cost him enough.

American biologist Clarence M. Tarzwell has estimated that it costs American fishermen $1 a pound for every fish they take, let alone the ones that get away. He said the catch in the United States last year totalled about 5,000,000,000 pounds of fish.

Tarzwell said there were probably 25,000,000 American fishermen outside the commercial ranks paying for the privaricator's privilege.

GOLF'S 'MR. NOBODY'

U.S. Open Champ Gets Big Welcome

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP)—Jack Fleck, who finally found the pot of gold on the golf tournament trail, comes home today ready to start checking off some of the items on the list of "wants" his wife built up during the long, lean years.

The soft-spoken 32-year-old Fleck, who amazed the golfing world by out-shooting the mighty Ben Hogan for the National Open crown, will get the full treatment at his homecoming. A 60-piece band and a parade of fire trucks will be on hand when the "nobody" hits town.

No celebration could top the growing list Mrs. Fleck kept during the years her husband could manage to hack out little more than eating money on the pro circuit.

The 26-year-old pretty, blonde Mrs. Fleck started keeping the list because every time she mentioned she wanted something, Fleck would reply that he'd buy it when he won the Open.

The list grew and grew as Fleck never quite made the "big money"—never finishing better than eighth in any major tournament. The list finally got so long that Fleck commented a few weeks ago that he "couldn't afford to win the Open this year."

But Fleck, as a result of his open win, should make himself a fortune during the next 12 months. He's already been besieged with offers for everything from endorsements to exhibition dates.

He picked up $6,000 winning the open in his playoff with Hogan Sunday. Just a few hours later, he added another $10,000, more money than he sometimes made on the tour in a month, for a brief appearance on a network television show.

Fleck confessed the mad merry-go-round had left him "speechless."

One thing he knows for certain, though—he's going to take a few weeks off from the tournament grind.

That's okay by Mrs. Fleck.

Net Favorites Advance In Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (UP)—The spotlight shifted to women's singles and men's doubles today in the Wimbledon tennis championships with America's title favorites, Doris Hart, Tony Trabert, and Vic Seixas, all booked to appear on the historic centre court.

The seeded players in the men's singles emerged safely Monday from their first-round matches.

The two Canadians in the competition, however, were beaten. Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., lost to Herbie Bloom of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Lea (Luscious) Pericoli, the 20-year-old Italian girl whose bare midriff displays at a pre-Wimbledon tournament in Britain caused a near-sensation, proved more decorative than skillful today. She dropped her second round match to Josefa de Riba of Spain, 5-7, 6-1, 6-2, after drawing a first-round bye.

6-3, 6-2, 6-2 and Don Fontana of Toronto went down 6-0, 7-5, 6-2 to Adrian Quist of Australia.

Low Hoad, a bridegroom of 48 hours, looked sluggish and sleepy as he defeated fellow Australian, Robert Howe, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2. Jaroslav Drobny won from Rene Buser of Switzerland, 6-3, 6-1, 6-2, despite a minor shoulder injury and appendix trouble.

LIKES LOOSE RACKET

Top-seeded Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, using a weakly-strung racket "because it's better for control," won easily from Australia's Mal Anderson, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Ken Rosewall, second-seeded from Australia, defeated Britain's G. D. Owen 6-4, 6-4, 6-1 in a typical one-sided first-round.

Other seeded players fared this way: No. 2, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia won from A. J. Clayton of Britain, 6-3, 6-0, 6-0; No. 5, Rex Hartwig of Australia, defeated R. J. Lee, Britain, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2; and No. 7, Budge Patty of Los Angeles, defeated fellow-American G. W. Drullinger, Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

Eight-seeded Sven Davidson of Sweden knocked out the American Davis Cupper, Hamilton Richardson. He turned back the Rhodes scholar from Baton Rouge, La., 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

Who's 'Confused'? Leo Benches Willie

Giants Drop Five Straight

By The Associated Press
Manager Leo Durocher may have diagnosed the whole National League pennant race when he explained why he benched Willie Mays, the darling of New York Giants a year ago.

"Confused," is the way Leo pegged Willie's trouble. And if that doesn't describe the way the National League is behaving, it'll do until something better comes along.

This was supposed to be one of those "dream" races, with everybody getting into the act. Trouble is, Brooklyn Dodgers rocketed away out front and have shown no signs of faltering while the other seven clubs grope around looking for a way out. Confusion in profusion, you might say.

It is a pretty dandy race at that, if you exclude the Dodgers—who are 11 games out front with a 46-16 record that's two games ahead of the blistering pace set by the 1954 Cleveland Indians en route to an American League record of 111 victories. The National League mark is 116 by the 1906 Chicago Cubs.

Once you forget about the Dodgers, the race is pretty tight. The second-place Cubs are just 2 1/2 games up on Milwaukee-Breaves. The Giants are another two games back and two games ahead of fifth-place Cincinnati Redlegs. Philadelphia Phillies and St. Louis Cardinals are in a virtual tie for sixth another game back. Only Pittsburgh Pirates, 2 1/2 games behind the Dodgers, are solid in the cellar.

Milwaukee moved up on the Cubs as Gene Conley won his ninth decision Monday night, 2-1 over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati made it five straight defeats for the Giants 5-3, and St. Louis topped Philadelphia 4-1 with rookie Luis Arroyo winning his eighth.

Brooklyn and the Cubs were idle. So was the entire American League—the circuit with the contest for a pennant.

The Braves made it four straight behind Gettys' four-hitter, although getting just four hits themselves off loser Vern Law and Bob Putkey. Billy Bruton singled and stole second to score on Johnny Logan's double in the fourth inning, then got all the way to third on an error in the sixth to score the other run on Logan's sacrifice fly.

He admitted, on his return in

Irrepressible Willie Bothered, Bewildered

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP)—Willie Mays stands at the baseball crossroads today, benched, bothered and bewildered.

Just a year ago, before he came on to win the National League batting title and player of the year honors, he actually wasn't much better off than he is right now. Not as far as records are concerned, anyhow.

But the differences figure to make another such surge, extremely difficult, if not impossible.

Willie is tired, mentally and physically. At least one club has found how to pitch to him and the word figures to get around. Personal problems plus the burden of fame have changed the irrepressible "Say Hey" Kid, who was able to play without pressure in 1954.

And Leo Durocher, who at the end of last season was comparing Willie glowingly to such as Joe DiMaggio, confesses that Willie is "confused" and is "playing bad baseball."

The baseball statistics say that Willie isn't much worse off than he was at this time last season. Then he was hitting .303 and had struck out only 17 home runs. Today he is hitting .279 and again has 17 home runs.

MENTAL BURDEN
But his troubles extend beyond the averages. He was a loose and lighthearted competitor last season as he roared upward to win the bat title with a .345 mark. He fielded flawlessly, ran the bases like one of the revered gas house gang, and got his hits when they counted.

Today Willie looks back on an early season in which he has been a dud on the base paths with several real "skulls"; inability to hit in the clutch and fielding lapses on "balls" which he used to put in his hip pocket. Personal outside projects which haven't worked out too well have added to his mental burden.

Yet most baseball men insist that what hurt Willie most was playing during the off-season in the Puerto Rican winter league. It robbed him of his snap.

He admitted, on his return in

TENNIS BACK-TALK EXPLAINED

Harry's Head Safe - Sir Norman To Quit

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Australia's sports fans have undergone two shocks in recent days. First, one of their captive tennis heroes, Lew Hoad, upped and got married in England without obtaining permission from Sir Norman Brookes, president of the Australian Tennis Association. Then Harry Hopman, Hoad's Davis Cup captain, talked back to Sir Norman.

In Australia, where tennis is a sort of national mania and Sir Norman is a shade more important than the prime minister, the news must have caused many a breakfast to grow cold.

Hoad tossed the egg into the fan when he married his fiancée of some time, pretty Jennifer Staley, one of the Aussies' best young women players. We imagine this to have been the first time in his 20 years that he ever did anything on impulse. Hoad has been a full-time tennis-playing employee of a sports equipment firm since he was 14.

TOLD HOPMAN

Even then, Hoad didn't quite go overboard. He let Hopman in on his plans. Hopman, in turn, wired news of the impending nuptials to Don Ferguson, vice-president of Australian Tennis Association, but did not think it necessary to inform Brookes.

EBROW RAISER

Instead the cables said the Australian association had decided to congratulate Hoad and his bride. We got in touch with one of the leading tennis lights and asked if he had heard anything lately which might explain Hopman's apparent affront to the Aussies' most legendary net dictator and the dictator's failure to have Harry's head.

"Probably," he said, "it's because Sir Norman already has notified them he is retiring on June 30."

He added that his likely successor is Ferguson, the man Hopman told about the wedding.

United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Bobo Olson wants an oxygen tank to help win the light-heavyweight title from 38-year-old Archie Moore Wednesday night at the Polo Grounds.

Dr. Sam Sherman of San Francisco, personal physician to middleweight champion Olson, will ask the boxing commission for permission to administer oxygen to Bobo between rounds.

Trainer Fred Bianchi explained today, "the oxygen will give him a lift. Yes, we've used it before in a few fights, including the one with Joey Maxim on April 13."

Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the commission's staff said today he believed permission would be given although oxygen hadn't been used in a New York ring for years — "not since the late Pete Reilly used it on some of his fighters."

Meanwhile, it appeared the oxygen might be necessary; for Moore became a 2-1 betting favorite, and bookies said he probably would go into the ring at 3-1. A poll of 26 sports writers resulted in 19 picking Moore to win and only seven selecting Olson. Eleven of the 19 Moore voters predicted a kayo.

Promoter Jim Norris gave some encouragement to Olson when he disclosed that Bobo would be given serious consideration as September heavy-weight challenger if he beats ancient Archie impressively tomorrow night.

It was the first time Norris had spoken of the 160-pound ruler as a possible heavy challenger although he has regarded a victorious Moore as a nearly certain foe for Rocky Marciano.

Norris said an advance sale of more than $100,000 indicated a gate of more than $250,000 for the fight. "It might go much

Today's draw follows:

DOWN WITH DEATH

ROME (AP)—"Down with death," said a sports page editorial on motor racing in Giornale d'Italia Monday.

Three motorcycle racers were killed in Sunday's Milan-Taranto race, only a few days after the bloody Le Mans disaster.

"What purpose do races serve anymore?" it asked, citing the new deaths.

It said the continuing toll from auto and motorcycle racing must rest heavily on the consciences of the auto industry, the governments which permit racing and on those involved in the races.

BRIGHT TO RETURN

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos' president M. I. Lieberman announced Monday Johnny Bright will be back with the club when training starts July 10.

Tony Petronella, president of the National Boxing Association, warned that if Moore fails to pare down to 175 pounds for the weigh-in tomorrow, "he'll lose his title on the scales, but if Olson beats him tomorrow night, Olson still will win the title."

Should an over-weight Moore beat Olson, the title would remain vacant and a tournament would be staged to determine Moore's successor.

The New York commission has made no ruling yet on the aftermath of a weight-failure by Archie, but it did rule on an Olson victory.

Petronella agreed with the New York commission that Olson's middleweight title will be vacated automatically if he wins the light-heavy diadem. "He will have no choice about which title he wants to keep," Petronella declared.

Bobo and Archie will motor into New York from their camps tomorrow just in time for the weigh-in at Madison Square Garden.

New Comet Brings Troubled Times Says Sikh Astronomer

By HUMPHRY DAVY

A new comet discovered nine days ago by a Czech astronomer is an ill-omen for the world at large, Munsha Singh Dhukhi, Sikh priest and astrologer at the Victoria Sikh Temple, said today.

The new comet with a tail four times the diameter of the moon, was spotted for the first time at dawn this morning by observers at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich.

Munsha Singh, who is the official astrologer for the city's East Indian community, said the comet's appearance was a sign of "internal strife" within nations. Argentina, he said, marked the beginning of the strife.

"It does not mean an international war," he said, "but civil strife. Brother shall fight brother and hate shall divide the peoples of various nations."

Munsha Singh said Canada, the United States and Asia all will be affected. The strife would be aggravated, he said, by famine and unemployment.

"After the strife, a new era will dawn," he said. "But many people will be martyred before that time comes."

With regard to people born during the comet's appearance, Munsha Singh said they were in for ill-luck. "The strife that is to come, the good and the bad, is born in them," he said.

Dr. R. M. Petrie, director of the observatory, said the observatory took good pictures of the comet spectrum when the big telescope was trained on it early this morning. He said it was an interesting spectacle.

The astronomers tried for five days to see the comet, but clouds prevented them from seeing their quarry. Early this morning the clouds cleared and they were able to get a good view of the comet.

Dr. Petrie said people should be able to see the comet for the next week or more. It can be seen after twilight in the northwest or before dawn in the northeast, he said.

"I would advise people to use telescopes or binoculars," he said, "as the comet is hard to see with the naked eye."

PESKY WASP BLAMED IN CRASH CAUSING INJURIES TO WOMAN

A wasp was blamed for a car accident Monday night which sent a city woman to hospital with a deep gash above her right eye.

Miss Doris L. Noble, 31, 21 Government, was attempting to brush a wasp out of her car when the vehicle went out of control and crashed into a power pole and careened into a parked car, she told police.

Accident occurred at about 6 p.m. at Government and Michigan.

Baby Bonuses Total $214 Million Since Start 10 Years Ago

Payments Credited With Giving Children Opportunity to Receive Better Education

B.C. families have received $214,000,000 in family allowance cheques since the federal government bonus plan was started 10 years ago this month.

This was reported today by W. R. Bone, regional director of the national health and welfare department, who pointed out the payments each year in the first decade has averaged over $20,000,000.

"It's rather a neat point whether it all goes to the children for whom it is paid," Mr. Bone acknowledged, "but there can be no question that general living conditions of the families in receipt of allowance cheques have improved because of the extra money."

The rate of improvement, he said, was difficult to determine since the 10 years of family allowance has been a period of fairly high employment and general prosperity.

AIDS EDUCATION

One field where officials can point to a definite beneficial effect is in education. Family allowance, said Mr. Bone, has been responsible for improving attendance and keeping youngsters in school for longer periods. Parents who are indifferent to their children's attendance at school find the allowance stops if their youngsters do not report regularly for classes.

Miss Ruby McKay, superintendent of child welfare for the provincial government, offered the comment: "Family allowance has done a great deal to raise the standard of family living. It has been a tremendous boon in our foster-home program."

The department has used family allowance money for such diverse purposes as providing music and dance lessons to buying new clothes for a graduation exercise.

"We see that the money goes into trust accounts," Miss McKay explained. "Many youngsters have financed their higher education with this as a basis."

Because the children have a say in how their money is to be spent, it serves to teach them the value of money, she explained further. A youngster old enough to have a bicycle and with sufficient need for a bicycle may apply his family allowance money for such a purchase.

This month, 394,085 children in 189,944 B.C. families are eligible for family allowance benefits. Cheques totalling $2,379,751 have been mailed on their behalf.

Ten years ago, in July, 1945, $1,111,778 was sent out to 185,579 children in 95,773 B.C. families.

Hewitt Forgets Shawnigan In Burnaby Teaching Post

John Hewitt, completing his first year of teaching in the B.C. public school system, told the Times today he is enjoying his work "very much."

Mr. Hewitt, whose name hit the headlines last year in connection with the "banished bride" incident at Shawnigan Lake School, is industrial arts teacher and physical education instructor at Olpha Junior High School in Burnaby. He teaches pupils in grades 7, 8 and 9.

He obtained employment at the public school after quitting his job at Shawnigan Lake last October, claiming school authorities had objected to his wife living there on grounds she was a "colored person."

Victoria Man Hurt In Traffic Mishap Near Royal Roads

A city man, Walter Belobaba, 1448 Grant, suffered cuts to his chin in a traffic accident at about 7:35 a.m. today on Sooke Road near Royal Roads Canadian Services College gate.

Colwood RCMP said a vehicle driven by William James Selly Bonar, 580 Leaside, had stopped on the road to allow another car ahead to make a left turn.

The Bonar auto was struck in the rear by a car driven by Lloyd Vernon Siddall, Victoria. They said Belobaba was a passenger in the Siddall car.

Mr. Clack told his audience a civic auditorium and a convention centre are not quite the same.

The auditorium is primarily for staging of entertainment such as the symphony, religious meetings and dramatic presentations. A convention centre must have a large hall for meetings, but also committee rooms, catering facilities, dining rooms and small rooms for social functions.

A civic centre would combine both, he stated. It would mean a number of buildings, with the same objective, which would be a source of civic pride.

"As architects we are very conscious that Victoria is not a very beautiful city. That may come as a blow to our pride. We have magnificent surroundings, terrific views,

Go Ahead Given On Buttle Hydro

Objections Dismissed By Water Comptroller

Provincial water rights comptroller E. Paget today dismissed objections to the B.C. Power Commission's proposed $19,000,000 hydro development on Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes.

As a result of his decision, no public hearings on the project will be held, and a conditional water licence is expected to be issued to the commission "in the near future," enabling a start on construction.

The water rights comptroller said "terms and conditions now in effect to protect Strathcona Park will be incorporated in any new licence" that may be issued.

Buttle Lake lies partly within the borders of Strathcona Park. It is on this ground that conservationists have bucked the plan from the outset, some four years ago.

The present power commission plan, including the Upper Campbell dam, will have a greatly lessened effect on Buttle than the original proposal, which called for a single storage dam on Buttle.

Conditions of the original water licence called for clearing of all timber to be flooded, construction of public access road, improvement of camping sites, and construction of a boat launching site.

B.C. Power Commission plans call for two separate stages. The first, costing $9,000,000, will

City Claims Victory In Caterpillar 'War'

Tent caterpillars were declared under control in city parks today by parks commissioner Herbert Warren.

"Our spraying program of last year has paid dividends. There is not nearly the trouble in the city as there is in Saanich," he said.

A three-man team with a 400 pound pressure sprayer has waged battle against the pests with DDT and arsenate of lead. The same solutions are recommended for use in gardens, said Mr. Warren.

EARWIGS TOO

Earwigs are also reported retreating before the city parks attack. Baits made of apple pumice and sodium fluorides have been spread around flower beds. "The apple pumice is a sweet substance which attracts the pinched crawlers, the other chemical administers the coup de grace."

DDT dust on plants is also used to fight earwigs.

Aphis, the little green jumpers, are described by Mr. Warren as the worst pest in the park. They cause the roses to curl up and secrete a gummy substance which drops from the trees and sticks to cars. The same stuff causes a black fungus.

Q.—Can you tell me what color the hull of "Vancouver" ship, Discovery, was painted, if any?—Mrs. P.D.

A.—Pictures of the Discovery and other ships of the 18th century as conceived by artists show them as black or dark brown. From this it seems plain their hulls were treated with pitch. The Oxford dictionary defines pitch as a tenacious resinous substance of a black or dark brown color... obtained from the boiling of tar... used to stop the seams of ships after caulking, to protect wood from moisture, etc.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

IWA Meeting Set On New Contract

International Woodworkers of America, local 1-1388 (CCL), will hold a general membership meeting Sunday at 2 p.m. in the CCL Hall, 715 Johnson, to vote on recommendations of the contract committee and hear the report of the policy committee.

A conciliation board recommended at the week-end that a two-year contract offering a five-cents-an-hour wage boost each year, be accepted by woodsmen and management.

Doctors and dentists of Victoria urged fluoridation, he pointed out.

"I leave it to the people whether they will take the advice of Mrs. Arsens or the authorities," he said.

Mr. Clack will be one of the speakers at the McEwen meeting.

Architect Urges Careful Planning Before Starting Auditorium

A year of careful planning should precede construction of a civic auditorium even if the provincial grant for capital city beautification is available now, according to city architect Roderick D. Clack.

Speaking to the Victoria chapter of the Society of Residential Appraisers at the Pacific Club Monday night he said "We must start making concrete plans."

At the same time, city restaurateur, Elmer McEwen announced he is inviting all MLAs, the mayor, reeves, aldermen and councillors of Greater Victoria to attend a special meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at McEwen's Restaurant to discuss the project.

Mr. Clack told his audience a civic auditorium and a convention centre are not quite the same.

The auditorium is primarily for staging of entertainment such as the symphony, religious meetings and dramatic presentations. A convention centre must have a large hall for meetings, but also committee rooms, catering facilities, dining rooms and small rooms for social functions.

A civic centre would combine both, he stated. It would mean a number of buildings, with the same objective, which would be a source of civic pride.

"As architects we are very conscious that Victoria is not a very beautiful city. That may come as a blow to our pride. We have magnificent surroundings, terrific views, but Douglas Street and Government Street are most appalling."

We wanted to see the business section scaled down to the pedestrian.

"We must see the city from the pedestrian point of view."

"You could say we must put sex appeal into the building design."

He said Alberta government is now building civic auditoriums for Calgary and Edmonton, valued at $300,000 each. He thought the Alberta buildings, which would include all facilities of a convention centre are what the Social Credit government is thinking about for Victoria but added that $1,000,000 won't build on that scale.

"To provide what they expect to have $1,000,000 is not too much in Victoria and $500,000 is certainly not enough for a convention centre."

Making the site available and financing is the next step, he said. A convention centre is the first need for this city, he thought.

Mr. McEwen said support for his plan to have a non-profit group finance an auditorium with government-backed bonds has received support "above anything I have expected."

Mr. Clack will be one of the speakers at the McEwen meeting.

Italian-Made Sweaters Have Attractive Matching Stoles

By PENNY SAVER

I found something very new and different today. In the line of sweaters, Italian-made sweaters, always a favorite with me, are taking on a new look. A shorter length, a more boxy bottom, and fashionably cut sleeves all combine to make up the smart models I saw. One is shown in soft pastels. It has a bare, round neckline, that scoops to show off your tan, and there are no sleeves, just neatly rolled edges at the arm holes. From the shoulder, right down to the waist, there's a filled-in zig-zag pattern in a darker tone of the pastel. No, it isn't knitted in, it's hand painted! The processed work of the design definitely will not come off when you wash it. The effect is terrific.

Worn with a dark skirt, either slim or full, this sweater will be tops, especially with the stole that matches it. The stole is in the same pastel, and down both sides you again see the hand-painted pattern. It's really quite startling, and the more you look at it, the more you'd like to have the set yourself. As you must realize by now, I'm completely won over to Italian sweaters. You'd really love this set, and it can be worn everywhere. It's a very fine angora mixture, the type of wool with which this particular firm specializes. The sweater sells at $16.50 and the stole at $19.50.

After being entirely enthralled with the gorgeous sweaters, I wandered into a pet shop, where I was greeted with a cheery "hello." Just as quickly though, I heard the same voice say "goodbye" and it seemed to have been aimed at me. Rather baffled, I finally discovered, way over in the corner, a very wise looking, but very mischievous parrot. I was told later that "Polly" has a very extensive vocabulary for a parrot. Such things as "What ya doin'?", "drink of water,"

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There Are Dangers In the Summer Sun

Many physicians take a dim view of the extremes in sunbathing which appear with each summer. While sunlight is a fine source of vitamin D it is not the only one by a long shot. Today, you can get your vitamin D in cod liver oil, vitamin tablets or milk. This will be an awful blow to those who brol and bake themselves each summer but you can get all of the vitamin D you need from reflected sunlight when sitting by an open window or under an umbrella, on a porch or by the beach.

Physicians know that over-sunbathing can injure rather than build health and actually can be most dangerous if too extreme. Skin specialists warn that it is a fact that repeated and extreme sunbathing ages the skin prematurely. This is because it dries out the oils in the epidermis and thus speeds the aging process.

There also seems to be some connection between overexposure to the sun and skin cancer.

Among sailors, fishermen and farmers there is a much greater percentage of skin cancer than in any other group. Also, there is more of it in southern climates than in northern ones, and it usually occurs on exposed portions of the body, such as the hands and face.

It is a good thing to remember, that brunettes can take more sun safely than blonds or redheads can. This is because of the delicate nature of this type of skin rather than because of the pigmentation.

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—"Operation orchid" was a sidelight of the annual dance of the Kitchener-Waterloo wing of the RCAF Association. Members had 200 orchids flown from Hawaii for their dance partners.

"Wouldn't you know it? The kind of guy who leaves his door unlocked wouldn't have 'Sanforized' pajamas!"

Too bad, boys. But just try next door. Most people have "SANFORIZED" labelled cottons around the house. They may leave their doors unlocked... but they take no chances with shrinkage.

*Trade Mark

Blonds should take special care to protect themselves.

Vegetable oil screens some of the damaging sun's rays out, but the commercial products have other ingredients added. The army made great strides in this field during the war.

Forgetting health for the moment from a purely cosmetic standpoint, too rapid sunbathing is unsatisfactory because instead of having a smooth tan your skin peels off in strips and spots, creating a mottled look.

Florence Clough Dance Revue Draws Large Audience to Royal

A world of fairy-tale characters was unveiled last evening in the Royal Theatre when many excited youngsters took part in the annual Florence Clough Dance Academy revue. Opening scene showed the frolics of seven dwarfs, with a petite Snow White, danced by Cheryl McBratney. Charming prince was Helen Small. Dozens of bunnies danced and hopped, and were joined by tiny pink fairies and butterflies, all between three and six years old. A mischievous elf was cleverly portrayed by Sandra McClure, and Sandra Smith was Peter Cottontail. Young Colleen Payne and her natty partner, Gordon Callow, delighted everyone with a precision tap number. Senior dancer, Lucy Tomczyk, thrilled the audience with her Pas Seul. Adeline Chuhaywich, another senior dancer, was outstanding in grace and technique. Change in pace brought a card game into the picture, in the familiar Kings and Queens of Hearts-Diamonds, Clubs and Spades. The dancing was convincing, costuming clever and appealing, with the regal colors and characteristic patterns. An accomplished young dancer, May Guthrie, played the court jester. A new twist was given to Hawaiian dances when several dancers in swishing grass skirts and leis tapped their way into a Hawaiian dance. Effectiveness of black and white in this number, when house lights were put out and only visible movement on the stage was of grass skirts and floral adornment. Classical ballet, complete with misty, bouffant costumes, combined with techniques of promising young dancers to present the Blanche Ballet, in which a scene of white and sparkling forms carried through the charming scene.

Frances Merriman, Shannon MacLean and Alicia Tubman amazed the audience with their acrobatic feats. Two charming, dark-haired dancers teamed up to dance a "Me and My Shadow" number. Valeria Parkin and younger Cheryl McBratney, Senior dancers, led by Don Leckie and Valeria Parkin, formed an impressive number in black and white, tap. Three little girls, ages five, seven and nine, were the Warhol sisters, Denise, Penny and Vana, in a charming number, which gained hearty applause. Jill Pinniger, promising and accomplished dancer, presented her Pas Seul with professional-like manner; toe tapper Linda Chan, gave a new twist to both toe dancing and tap. Final number, featuring senior dancers, who presented Davy Crockett, danced by Ronnie Lawson and Donald Leckie; grandpa, Lucy Tomczyk; grandpa—Bob Ellis, and Ragamuff, Alicia Tubman, in a gay and light-hearted number. The revue was sponsored by the Canadian Daughters' League Assembly No. 5.

Newlyweds Piped From Church Following Evening Ceremony

Petty Officer and Mrs. Edward Frank Webb were piped from the Gorge Presbyterian Church Saturday evening, following their wedding ceremony, performed by Rev. T. H. MacAllister.

The bride is the former Miss Marion Mary Macaulay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Macaulay, 3308 Cedar Hill Road, and her groom the son of Mr. A. H. Webb, 361 Bronx Avenue, East Kildonan, Winnipeg, Man.

Tall baskets of pink and white peonies were placed on the altar and the same flowers, with white streamers, marked the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the petite bride wore a gown of fine imported lace over satin, fashioned with a strapless bodice, topped with a dainty buttoned jacket with long lily point sleeves. The skirt featured six tiers of lace, posed over satin and net crinolines. A pure silk illusion veil of floor length was caught to a circlet of petals and pearls. Her bouquet was of gardenias and rosebuds, with rosebuds knotted in the cascading streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wesley Bell, in a turquoise embroidered nylon and net gown. She wore a pale pink floral headress and accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white feathered carnations.

Little Dianne Miles was a demure flower girl in a dainty floor-length gown of ice blue taffeta; held full by a crinoline. She wore a yellow velvet sash and carried a colonial bouquet of feathered white and yellow carnations.

Best man was PO Ronald Acheson, Winnipeg, and ushers were AB Wesley Bell, Regina, and LS Arthur Mills, Vancouver.

Telegrams were read from the groom's family in Winnipeg and from the bride's sister and brother-in-law in Washington, D.C., at the reception which followed in Loughheed's Banquet Club. The bride's table was decorated with white gladioli and lily of the valley, and the wedding cake was cut with an ivory-handled knife, a family heirloom.

Alex MacLennan proposed the toast to the bride.

For a wedding trip through western Canada, the bride donned a full-skirted navy blue and white tie silk dress, with navy blue fitted redingote and white accessories. Her corsage was a gardenia.

Board To Preserve Ancient Monuments

The Greater Victoria school board is looking to the preservation of the system's ancient monuments. A metal marker, describing the significance of the present site of the Central Junior High School in relation to the development of the education of the Victoria community and the province, will be attached to a stone cairn or pillar to be erected near the site of the old school, which was opened in 1853.

The marker, which was presented to the board by the B.C. Government Travel Bureau, and whose inscription was composed by provincial architect Willard Ireland, will be unveiled at a public ceremony in September next.

At the same time reference will be made to other objects which will stir the memory of many longtime Victoria residents—the bell which called boys to the old Boys' Central School and the cornerstone of the old Girl's Central School.

The bell is already installed under the stairs in the lobby of the new junior high school and the cornerstone will be placed at the southeast corner of the same school's grounds.

HOME GARDEN BY JACK BEASTALL

Neglect of Garden Now Means Big Loss Later

After preparing the ground, now, but a short season with a clean, sharp hoe will cut them down and give breathing space to the tiny plants in the rows.

Early thinning is most necessary if sturdy plants are to be raised which can bear the size of crop we would like to have. The first thinning should be done while the plants are still tiny.

Draw the earth toward the dwarf bean plants and not away from them. Pole beans are natural climbers and develop rapidly when they find something on which to twine. Marrows, squash, melons and cucumbers require plenty of water and must never dry out, while to-matoes require far less moisture but it must be constantly and steadily available.

(BB-PLUS) "THE FRENCH LINE" (Odeon) — Complete with the B.C. Censor Board's seal of approval, Howard Hughes' much-ballyhooed "The French Line" makes its belated appearance in town spliced with generous proportions of Jane Russell, one or two lulling songs, an appealing gaiety and a surprising amount of decorum.

This, of course, was the film that got itself banned in the odd state because of a certain dance sequence as executed by Miss Russell. Part of this has since been cut (without spoiling the fun too much, by the way) and now the picture remains fit for all to behold.

The plot—unfortunately not too original—basically is about Jane R., who is a hard-riddin' roppin' drinkin' lady cowpoke from Texas, whose only sin, it seems, is the acquisition of too many millions via oil wells that have an unhappy knack of springing up all over her range with exasperating monotony.

FINALLY IT GETS SO that warm-hearted Jane feels as though the boys all love her for her gold or by-pass her because "she's got too much of it. So, one day after the last groom-to-be jilts her at the altar she goes on her honeymoon alone and incognito. While masquerading as a Paris-bound model aboard The French Line she meets Broadway idol Gilbert Roland and the love affair blossoms. She lets on she's just a poor kid with a heart of gold on her way to an international fashion show, and Roland lets her think she's fooling him.

Sound comedy is supplied by the principals as well as by the inimitable veteran Arthur Hunnicutt.

All in all, "The French Line" makes thoroughly enjoyable summer film entertainment.

Fluoride Vote For Esquimalt

Council Approves Referendum; Likely for December Election

Esquimalt residents will vote this year—probably at the December elections—on whether they want their drinking water fluoridated. The municipal council decided on the referendum Monday night by a 4-3 vote.

The municipality became the second in Greater Victoria to decide on a referendum. First such action came from Saanich last week.

Fluoridation has been recommended by the Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health.

Esquimalt voted for the referendum on the recommendation of C.R. G. K. Sammon, who also is chairman of the health board.

Previously, the councillor had asked council to make the decision on use of fluorides, without reference to the electors. But Monday night he modified this stand and urged a referendum.

The three councillors who opposed the endorsement were James Bryant, J. E. Carey and Walter Holder.

"I object to the idea," C.R. Carey said. "If we endorse it, it means we are in favor of fluoridation, and I'm not. I'll vote against it."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said council should not refer the matter to the public without its own

LOCAL NEWS BRIEFS

B. C. Joint Council of Public Employees will hold its annual convention in the Princess Louise Room of the Empress Hotel, Saturday and Sunday. About 50 delegates will be present and will convene under president Tom Lewis, Vancouver.

They are William Hartley, Blakeston, H.M.C.S. Naden; Bernard Arthur Hawes, 1340 Pandora, and John Claude Wilkie, Elk Lake Auto Court.

Fine of $10 or three days in jail was imposed on William Lee, Drake Hotel, when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of driving a vehicle with inadequate brakes May 24.

Greater Victoria School Board will write to the provincial government and the Native Sons of B.C. asking some action be taken to prevent deterioration of the old Craigflower School which was built in 1854. Now operated as a museum, it is cared for by the lodge in co-operation with the Native Daughters of B.C.

Charles W. Cooper, 501 Macaulay, was fined $20 or three days in jail Monday in Esquimalt police court when convicted on a speeding charge.

Police said the accused was paced at 50 mph June 1 on Esquimalt Road.

Victoria Association for Retarded Children is conducting a census of such handicapped children on the southern island. Parents or friends are asked to phone Mrs. Adam Duncan, 8-1922.

A program of education and united action launched by the group is appealing to parents to abandon secrecy. It is felt by the group that many mentally retarded youngsters are hidden away by their parents to the extent where their abilities are further handicapped.

Victoria Aged Pensioners' Association, No. 3, will be guests of Memorial Arena Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. for a lacrosse game between Shamrocks and New Westminster. Members must show identification cards at the door.

A sidewalk grating on View Street near Douglas gave two women pedestrians a bad time Monday afternoon. Police report Mrs. D. Gallagher, 544 Simcoe, was bruised and shaken when she tripped on the grating covering a sidewalk freight chute, as it was being raised.

Miss Annie Haugh, 1418 Cook, was attempting to assist the other woman when she also fell, striking her head on the concrete.

Two city men, Albert Ronald Forbes, 730 Craigflower Road, and William Thomas Cram, 1129 Leonard Street, each were awarded master of science degrees in entomology at Oregon State College recently.

GREASED PUSSY—Bebe, a weebeegone Persian kitten, has a good reason to look unhappy. She got her head caught in a two-inch hole in the back of a stove, and her owner, Mrs. Ulysses Robinet, smeared bacon grease on her to pull her out easily. But Bebe wouldn't budge. She was finally freed by firemen who cut her out of the hole.

DOUBLE-LOVER

young racing driver was so great she met him in hotel rooms even after she left the apartment they shared and took up housekeeping with another man.

SHARED HER FAVORS
The second lover, Cussens, told the court he was "extremely fond" of Mrs. Ellis even though he had to divide her favors with Blakely.

Mrs. Ellis told the court that her double romance blossomed even though Blakely beat her so badly she once sought hospital treatment.

"She found herself in an emotional prison, created by this young man from which there was no escape," said Stevenson.

The arrangement ended when the triangle apparently became a quadrangle. Mrs. Ellis suspected Blakely of having other interests and persuaded Cussens to drive her to see the racing driver.

"I wanted to see David—I wanted to tell him to jump in the lake or something silly of that kind," she testified in a low voice.

But when she rang the doorbell, she heard a "female giggle." She said she saw a light go on and a blind go down.

"I was very upset," she said, "and I had the peculiar idea that I wanted to kill David."

She went home, got a gun, and the next day found the opportunity to shoot and kill Blakely.

Labatt Golf Draws Rival Champions

MONTREAL (UPI)—Ed Furgol and Peter Thomson, the American and British open golf champions, will compete in this year's $26,800 Labatt open at Montreal's Summerlea course Aug. 25-28, it has been announced.

Furgol is now defending his U.S. open title in California and Thomson, an Australian, will come here after defending his British title.

Flory Van Donck, the Belgian pro who tied Furgol and Thomson in the international golf championship in Washington, forcing it into a playoff won by Furgol, also will be on hand, the tournament committee said.

Other well-known pros who have entered include Mike Souchak, Gene Littler, Billy Maxwell and Ted Kroit.

SUCCESSFUL DEBUT
NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Pita, unbeaten Argentine welterweight, made a sensational New York debut Monday night by stopping Gene Polier of Niagara Falls, N.Y., on an eighth-round knockout after a furious brawl. Polier weighed 147½ lbs. Pita 145½ pounds.

NO PAIN NO WOUND IN "SOUND" SURGERY

TORONTO (UPI)—Brain surgery by soundwave, an operation in which the skull isn't even opened, has been described to a joint convention of the Canadian Psychiatric and Ontario Neuropsychiatric Associations at the Royal York Hotel.

Dr. S. Bernard Worts of New York said the ultrasonic surgery still was in the experimental stage, but showed considerable promise over conventional surgical methods.

"Through the temple the ultrasonic waves may be directed to the exact spot and for the exact purpose that the surgeon has planned," he said. "For two minutes they are played on the spot. The surgery has been done, no wound, no scar, no dressings and no pain to the patient."

$7,000 Purse Alberta Derby

EDMONTON (CPI)—The $7,000-added Alberta Derby will be the richest purse in the province's turf history when it is run here Aug. 24. And it is the first time in the 25-year history of the classic for three-year-olds that top-flight horses from eastern Canada and the Pacific coast have been entered.

The nine-furlong race which still has an eligible list of 77 from the original 174 nominated Jan. 1, 1953, offers the third largest purse this season in western Canada. In the West it's topped only by the $10,000-added Canadian Derby at Winnipeg and the Aug. 27 Speed to Spare Handicap here with $8,000 added.

Eastern entries in the Alberta Derby include three Toronto-owned horses that ran in the Queen's Plate there June 13—Loyalist, owned by Bill Moffat, Ben Steen's Benrom and Jack Stafford's Senator Jim—and Fairair, owned by Jim Fair of Cainsville, Ont., another Queen's Plate horse.

The leading prairie eligible is Donald, owned by Whittier Park Stock Farm of Winnipeg, Donald won all three of her starts last year.

Mrs. D. E. Robertson of Edmonton, who won the classic last year with Flying Joe, has a formidable contender in Plucky Dear, winner of five of eight starts as a two-year-old.

Royal Arcanum Top Posts Go To Victorians

Four of seven top positions in the Royal Arcanum Fraternal Organization were filled by Victoria delegates at the 53rd grand council session in Tacoma, Ore., last week-end.

Highest honor went to D. R. Park of Victoria, who was elected grand regent of Washington, Oregon and B.C. More than 85 delegates representing councils in these areas attended the annual session.

GRAND WARDEN
Les Dash, also of this city, was elected grand warden, a position second in command to the grand regent. Both Mr. Park and Mr. Dash are past regents of the local branch.

Other Victorians named to executive positions in the grand council are W. Cameron and J. J. Stewart, grand trustees; W. Werthier, E. Drummond and R. Patch, grand committeemen.

Deputy supreme regent H. Jacke of Denver, Colo., acted as installation officer. Mr. Jacke spent a day in this city with the Victoria delegation before returning to Denver Monday.

With a membership of 235, the Royal Arcanum Fraternity here is a voluntary organization. Among their projects are the building and distributing of toys to underprivileged children at Christmas and delivering for the Surplus Food Stall.

Art Centre Grant Legal

Mayor Claude Harrison said Monday there are no legal barriers to prevent the city from granting the Arts Centre $3,100 earmarked for the gallery June 9.

But he said it's his view the city should hold back until the other municipalities contribute and then give on the same per capita basis.

Council set aside the Arts Centre grant when $22,250 in civic grants was voted. City solicitor Arthur Patton was asked to check legality of making the grant to the gallery before it was turned over.

It was indicated by the motion that the grant would be automatic if the solicitor approved the legal aspects.

"That's up to the council," said the mayor when asked whether the grant would now go to the arts centre as previously indicated. "It's my view it's alright—if they (the municipalities) all give."

Ald. W. F. Pinfold, who proposed the grant said later he was confident council would approve the payment of the grant Thursday.

Oak Bay gave $250 to the Arts Centre this year and Saanich gave $50.

A DOCTOR EXPLAINS

What Your Pains Mean

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ
Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

This is a different sort of medical story in that Dr. Alvarez not only describes the origin and meaning of many of your pains, but he also tells you how the doctor's mind works as he tries to make a diagnosis and as he handles difficult patients.

CHAPTER XII

THE TREATMENT OF NERVOUS PERSONS

As all good psychiatrists have pointed out, if one is sure that the patient's troubles are due to neurosis, it is foolish, irrational and harmful to give medicines or a diet.

To do this is only to contradict everything that one has just been saying in regard to the diagnosis. It is bad also because, if given the choice, most patients would rather try to get well with medicine or an operation than by making efforts at self-control.

Often I suggest to a woman that she give the treatment I have offered her at least one trial; when several good physicians have all diagnosed a neurosis and have suggested that a rest be taken, it is just possible that they might be right and their advice worth following! I suggest that she follow the advice for awhile, at least, to see if the symptoms clear up. If they do, then there will be no need of searching further for a cure.

Often all that is needed to

Indians Seek Adjustment

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Indians telegraphed baseball commissioner Ford Frick Monday asking an "adjustment" from Baltimore Orioles because of infielder Billy Cox.

Cox, traded by Orioles to Cleveland, did not report to Indians. Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager, sent word to Frick that: Cox had sent to the Indians "final word" he is unable to play because of a bad leg and would not change his mind about refusing to report.

By "adjustment" the Indians said they meant "money."

Vancouver City Trims Scots

VANCOUVER (CPI)—Vancouver City defeated St. Andrews 5-2 here Monday night before only 519 Pacific Coast League soccer fans.

The win moved the City crew into second place, ahead of North Shore United and three points behind New Westminster Royals.

Tom McHugh led the City scorers with two goals. Brian Philley, Silvert Erickson and Dennis Rogers scored with each.

John Swann was the mainstay of St. Andrews, scoring both goals.

Racing Ban Remains

PARIS (Reuters)—The French government announced Monday night that the ban on motor-car races, imposed last week after the Le Mans disaster which cost 78 lives, will remain in force until new safety rules are framed.

All motor-car and motorcycle endurance tests are forbidden under the ban, which applies to all races in which competitors are classified according to maximum speeds.

SUCCESSFUL DEBUT

NEW YORK (AP)—Oscar Pita, unbeaten Argentine welterweight, made a sensational New York debut Monday night by stopping Gene Polier of Niagara Falls, N.Y., on an eighth-round knockout after a furious brawl. Polier weighed 147½ lbs. Pita 145½ pounds.

ROLEO IN SPOKANE

Sooke Log Birlers After World Crown

SOOKE—Two of western Canada's best log birlers—Jubiel and Ardiel Wickheim of Sooke—will compete in the world's championship "roleo" at Spokane Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Last year the two brothers competed in the event for the first time, and finished just out of the money in fourth and fifth place respectively.

A third Vancouver Island man, Bill Baikie, 23, of Royston, will compete in the international event for the first time. Son of Harper Baikie, logging operator and one of the best of an older generation of log birlers, Bill attends UBC and works summers as a logger.

CANADIAN CHAMP

The Wickheim brothers have been birling for several years, but it was only last year that they began serious competition. Jubiel, in fact, claims a Canadian rolling title as a result of his victory in loggers' sports at Courtenay.

Jubiel, who is 20, is a contractor. Ardiel, 25, is a boom man by trade and a director of the National Roleo Association, organization that governs the championship event.

They will leave here Wednesday by car.

Father's Day Celebration Costs $160

NANAIMO—Henry and Matthew Watkins, father and son respectively, who celebrated Father's Day early Sunday morning in Chinatown, found in police court that it cost them $160.

Watkins Sr. pleaded guilty Monday before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts to driving while his ability was impaired, and his son admitted to having been intoxicated in a public place.

Mariners Warned Of Diver Working

PORT ALBERT—A diver will be working in Sooke River at the MacMillan & Bloedel wharf for the next two to three weeks, D. Dixon, district marine agent, has announced in a notice to mariners.

Clear signals will be displayed both day and night.

Mr. Dixon announced that warnings regarding diving operations in Duncan Bay and Pedder Bay now are cancelled as far as shipping is concerned.

NANAIMO WILL VOTE JULY 7 ON $251,000

NANAIMO—Ratepayers here will vote July 7 on by-laws to purchase Newcastle Island and build a combined fire hall and police station.

City council gave the by-laws third reading Monday night.

Purchase price of the 752-acre island, now owned by the CPR, is $150,000. It is a well-known resort area, and was popular years ago as a site for large picnics.

Police-fire hall plans call for construction at Lubbock Square. Building under consideration will cost $101,000.

'Plan Hospital' Martin Advises Nanaimo Board

Senior Citizens' Campaign Begun

NANAIMO—Health Minister Eric Martin has advised Nanaimo Hospital Board ahead with plans for a new modern hospital, according to former mayor Earle Westwood.

Speaking at a meeting of the Nanaimo senior citizens' housing scheme, of which he is chairman, he said a new hospital would serve a district between Ladysmith and Quailcum.

The present outmoded hospital, under such a plan, would be converted into a nursing home for eligible persons from the whole upper end of Vancouver Island, he said.

Some 50 workers on the senior citizens' project were told $3,497 now is on hand for the project, and during the meeting Nanaimo BPOE Elks lodge contributed $100.

A money-raising campaign now is under way in an "effort to finance ourselves so rents may be kept at the lowest possible level," Mr. Westwood said. The committee hopes to follow the example of Victoria's Kiwanis Village in creating the project.

No Mortgage Worries for New Homeowners

New Plan Will Ensure Mortgage is Paid Off!

Last summer, a young couple bought a home in a quiet suburban area for $15,000. They paid $5,000 down, with a 20-year mortgage for $10,000. As things stand, they should have no trouble paying it off.

The husband is taking no chances. He has a Confederation Life Mortgage Insurance Plan, with a Total Disability Clause. For $8.31 a month Confederation will pay off his mortgage in case of death. If he becomes disabled, the policy remains in force at no cost to him.

Yes, for less than 1% of your initial mortgage, providing you are under 35, you can protect your family from foreclosure at the time of your death.

Features of the Confederation Life Plan

1. This Mortgage Insurance Plan may be purchased on a 15, 20 or 25 year basis.
2. The cost reduces in later years.
3. After the mortgage period you may continue the protection at reduced cost, or receive a cash payment.

Cemetery Improvement Plan Placed Before City Council

NANAIMO—Support of a plan to clean and beautify the old Comox Road cemetery here has been asked of the city council by Nanaimo branch of the B.C. Historical Association.

A plan drawn by J. D. McGregor outlined a scheme whereby all old graves would be marked by a surveyor, and headstones would be arranged to form a central calm.

The association pointed out to the council that many of the descendants of persons buried in the old cemetery are both willing and "happy" to have the weed-infested area improved.

Also buried in the historic spot are sailors who lost their lives in the North Pacific during the Crimean War, but the

RAFTMAN UNSIGHTED THREE DAYS IN GULF

Ships in gulf waters are keeping a lookout for William Deziak, 40-year-old Fraser Canyon logger, who has not been sighted since Saturday. He left Vancouver Friday intending to float by raft 80 miles west to Nanaimo.

Deziak hit the news headlines when he shot the boiling Fraser river rapids in a home-made 12-foot raft.

Deziak was sighted by a small coastal steamer Saturday drifting north off course.

Workers Given Day Off, Free Ride on Ferry

An afternoon off... and the boss paying for the boat ride as well.

That's the happy state of affairs at the 21-employee Bayliss Neon Sign Co. Ltd., where W. A. Bayliss, company president, and Fred Smith, manager, decided to help the "fill-the-boat" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce.

The "boat" is Mv. Kalakala, and the trip Friday afternoon will mark its entry on the Victoria-Port Angeles service.

C. M. Nelles, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group that is conducting the campaign, cited the Bayliss idea as "leading the way" in the type of support the group is getting from business houses.

"Tickets are going exceptionally well," he said.

They are on sale for $2.40 each at downtown department stores, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Publicity Bureau. The inaugural trip will start at 12:30 p.m., and the ship will return at 4:30.

IRISH SWEEP TICKETS FOUND 'LOST' AT SEA

VANCOUVER (BUP) — Hundreds of sweepstake tickets found floating in the water off West Vancouver were not counterfeit, RCMP said today.

Police said the quality of the paper, ink and the water marks on the tickets showed them to be genuine.

Twenty-five books of tickets—11 tickets to the book—were handed over to West Vancouver police Monday by Tom Moore of Garrow Bay.

Moore said he found the tickets floating in the waters of Garrow Bay near Whytecliff. Police believed the tickets were dumped overboard by a passing vessel.

Tiny Town Suffers $500,000 Damage

VITA, Man (CP) — Residents of this southern Manitoba village prepared today to clean up the wreckage from Sunday's devastating tornado, as officials set about to assess the damage.

The two-minute twister, from the south-southwest, set off a chain of events that resulted in the deaths of 11 people and the destruction of 100 homes.

Resources Minister C. E. Greenlay, who toured the area Monday with Health Minister R. W. Bend and his deputy, said he believed the damage would easily exceed $500,000.

As acting premier, Mr. Greenlay said the province would provide any equipment needed to help in clearing away the rubble caused by the tornado which injured at least 30 persons and shattered about six homes, the hospital, drug store, bakery, lumber yard, restaurant, hotel and funeral parlor.

The three government officials surveyed the damage and attended an organizational meeting of the Vita Disaster Fund committee, headed by Dr. V. H. Waldon, superintendent of the Vita hospital.

A press statement issued at the end of a 1½-day meeting said the federal government's latest proposal—modified overnight to give more money to the provinces—calls for the federal government bearing half the cost of taking care of jobless above a set level of unemployment.

The federal government now is prepared to pay a flat one-half the cost of relief for unemployed above a floor of .45 per cent of the population, which would be regarded as normally unable to work for physical reasons.

This would mean federal participation in relief costs for those out of work above a figure of about 70,000, on the basis of current population.

BIG 4 OVERSHADOW UN 10TH BIRTHDAY

Molotov Says He's Agreeable To West's 'Summit Talk' Plan

By MAX HARRELSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russia and the Western powers were reported to have reached virtual agreement early today on arrangements for the "summit" talks in Geneva next month.

Informed quarters said Foreign Minister Molotov told the Western diplomats at the end of a four-hour meeting that at first sight he saw no reason to object to a series of proposals they had agreed on in New York last week.

Diplomats at the meeting said State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Macmillan and Foreign Minister Pinay had proposed that:

1. The purpose of the "summit" meeting should be to ease world tension and not to negotiate the settlement of specific problems.

2. The meetings should last from four to six days.

3. President Eisenhower should be the first presiding officer.

4. The meetings should be held in the Palais des Nations, United Nations headquarters in Geneva.

5. No council of foreign ministers should be held before the chiefs of government meet.

These developments came as the UN's 10th anniversary meeting got down to its week-long program of speeches on the world outlook.

Macmillan was scheduled to deliver today a declaration for Britain—the first major British foreign policy pronouncement since last month's election.

It now appears almost certain that the 60 UN members will conclude their session Sunday by adopting a peace pledge, to be known as the San Francisco Declaration.

Dr. Roy Snider, commissioner of the Manitoba Red Cross Society, said after a tour of the area that victims left homeless were being assisted by friends and relatives.

He said "many have found shelter with friends and others are able to live in their homes still despite being damaged by the twister. There is no shortage of fuel or food and there is no need for blankets."

"However, if it is evident that they need help, the Red Cross will be ready."

Volunteers were expected from nearby villages and towns to aid in the clean-up.

The committee will accept donations for the tornado victims, direct the clean-up of the village and assess the damage for the government.

Mr. Bend, who will give an account of the damage to a cabinet meeting at Winnipeg today, said the government may appeal to the National Disaster Fund, which was started with money left over from the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund.

COMPLETE SUCCESS UNLIKELY—CHURCHILL

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill said today "we must not count upon complete and immediate success" in the forthcoming Big Four conference at Geneva.

"A period of relaxation of tension may well be all that now is within our grasp," said the 80-year-old retired prime minister.

"Even so, such a phase would not be sterile. On the contrary, it would give time for science to show the magnitude of her blessings rather than all her terrors."

Sir Winston spoke in Guildhall, where a bronze statue of him was unveiled in the ancient ceremonial hall for the City of London.

Socreds Retain Seat But Margin Slashed

VERMILION, Alta. (CP) — James A. Smith, a high school principal, retained the federal constituency of Battle River-Camrose for the Social Credit party in a by-election Monday.

He filled a vacancy caused by the death last November of Robert Fair, Social Credit MP for 19 years. Mr. Smith, 44, was campaign manager for Mr. Fair in three federal elections.

The victory increased the party's standing to 15 in the House of Commons.

It was a close battle with another Smith—Dr. F. M. Smith, Liberal standard-bearer, a Camrose alderman who had contested nothing more than civic elections. CCF candidate William Irvine, an ex-MP, was never in contention.

The complete count showed Mr. Smith with a 342-vote margin over Dr. Smith. The standing, with all 240 polls heard from, was: Mr. Smith, 8,536; Dr. Smith, 8,194; Mr. Irvine, 3,772.

Standing in the House of Commons is: Liberal, 171; Progressive Conservative, 51; CCF, 23; Social Credit, 15; Independent, 4; Vacant, 1.

Two-thirds of the estimated 31,000 eligible voters cast ballots. In the 1953 election, when only 18,240 voted, Mr. Fair got 9,238 votes, a record 4,707 plus.

Gaitskell, former chancellor of the exchequer, won the post last year over Bevan by 4,338, 000 votes to 2,032,000.

Double-Loving Model to Hang For Murder

LONDON (UP) — A jury today convicted and doomed to death a trim love-starved model who murdered one of her two lovers when he cheated at her own game of passion.

A panel of 10 men and two women took only 23 minutes to decide that willowy, 28-year-old Mrs. Ruth Ellis should hang for killing her motor car racing paramour.

The blonde divorcee admitted she shot David Blakely, 25, because he tried to woo another woman. She was living with a second lover at the time, businessman Desmond Cussens.

Mrs. Ellis appeared unmoved by the guilty verdict which doomed her to the gallows. She smiled as she was taken away to the cells under the dock at the Old Bailey.

Defence pleas that black jealousy "unseated reason" failed to save the beautiful blonde. The defence pleaded the victim of the lover's quadrangle "had become an absolute necessity to this young woman."

The slim, smiling model wore heavy makeup and a tight black dress as she stood rigidly upright in the dock.

Her eyes fell momentarily to the floor when the judge pronounced sentence. "You will suffer death by hanging."

Justice Cecil Havers Drew, in his charge a half hour earlier, had shattered the defendant's plea of manslaughter when he ruled Blakely was innocent of any "provocation" when he tried to break off his affair with her.

Mrs. Ellis was charged with fatally shooting Blakely outside a suburban pub on Easter Sunday.

She stunned a packed court Monday when she testified in a whisper "It is obvious when I shot him I intended to kill him."

Ships in gulf waters are keeping a lookout for William Deziak, 40-year-old Fraser Canyon logger, who has not been sighted since Saturday. He left Vancouver Friday intending to float by raft 80 miles west to Nanaimo.

Deziak hit the news headlines when he shot the boiling Fraser river rapids in a home-made 12-foot raft.

Deziak was sighted by a small coastal steamer Saturday drifting north off course.

Offer on Unemployment Relief

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial conference on jobless relief announced today a modified proposal made by the federal government for sharing in unemployment relief costs will be considered by provincial governments.

A press statement issued at the end of a 1½-day meeting said the federal government's latest proposal—modified overnight to give more money to the provinces—calls for the federal government bearing half the cost of taking care of jobless above a set level of unemployment.

70,000 AFFECTED
This floor would be 45 per cent of the population of each province. For all Canada, this would amount to 70,000 persons. There was no official breakdown by provinces. The floor is based on an estimate of the number of persons regarded as unemployed.

"Special consideration," the statement added, "will be given to the problem arising in any province where the load of unemployed persons receiving assistance has normally been below this level of 45 per cent."

It also said that public investment "and other measures that would help to maintain employment at a high level" will be considered at the general federal-provincial fiscal conference here in October and at preparatory discussions in July preliminary to that conference.

They are identified only as Akemi, 19; Chiyo, 15, and Sadayo, 16, and their parents are threatening to sue Victoria promoter D. W. C. A Victoria promoter who billed three Japanese-Canadian girls as "geisha girls, right out of Madame Butterfly" is faced today with lawsuits by the teenagers' irate parents.

D. W. C. Fraser, 3601 Calumet, admitted the "geisha" angle was only a "publicity gimmick—a good promotional deal" to build the girls up for an appearance at a Victoria night spot.

The publicity reached the newspapers in Vancouver, and the Steveston parents of the girls notified Fraser they were going to sue for use of the term "geisha."

The girls, identified only as Akemi, 19; Sadayo, 16, and Chiyo, 15, are back home after entertaining Saturday night at the Monterey.

All three are Canadian born.

Building Owners Freed
Of Legal Responsibility
For Taxes on Tenants

VANCOUVER (CP)—City assessment against landlords for machinery owned by their tenants is invalid, Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ruled in Supreme Court here today.

The legislature's Assessment Equalization Act does not give the city authority to tax property owners for equipment which is owned and can be taken away by their tenants, Mr. Justice Wilson said.

But he adds, the legislature may by appropriate language impose on the owners of land a liability to pay taxes on improvements which are not owned by them.

Government officials at Victoria said the issue likely would be carried up to the Supreme Court of Canada, if necessary. They said they expect the taxes will have to be collected until the final appeal.

The new Assessment Equalization Act has been upset on a case by Reginald R. Orr, father of Alderman T. F. "Bill" Orr, and Orr's Stores, 2770 West Broadway.

It concerns a levy against the Orrs for shoe repair equipment owned by a cobbler who rents premises at that address.

C. K. Guild and F. K. Collins disputed the tax in Supreme Court, where Senator J. W. deB. Farris, and R. K. Baker appeared to support the validity of the assessment act for the province and the city.

Mr. Justice Wilson said the intention to tax a landlord for his tenant's improvements must be clearly expressed and that this is not done in the statute passed to raise school funds.

In support of this finding that such a levy can be made legally, he cited a decision of Supreme Court of Canada years ago when it upheld Vancouver's power to tax Canadian National Railways for buildings they did not own, but which are on their property.

The Social Credit government introduced legislation in 1953 providing for collection of taxes on fixed industrial machinery. Previously, only machinery in unorganized territory was taxed. In 1954, the legislation was amended to give a more detailed interpretation of fixed commercial machinery, and to provide exemptions on the first $1,500 of assessed value.

Municipalities are required to tax machinery affected for school purposes. But each municipal council can decide whether to tax machinery for general tax purposes in addition.

Maintenance men struck in annoyance at delays in negotiations covering demands for wage differentials and an apprenticeship program.

Peron Rebels
Freed From Jail

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—The first travellers arriving in Santiago from Argentina since last Thursday's revolt against President Juan Peron estimated today 2,000 persons were killed and more than 3,000 injured. Argentine authorities have reported 174 identified dead.

From UP and AP Dispatches
TORONTO—Fulgence Charpentier, Canadian charge d'affaires in Montevideo, Uruguay, told the Toronto Telegram by phone today that a "compromise" government has replaced the regime of President Juan D. Peron in Argentina and has repealed Peron's anti-Catholic laws.

Charpentier said, "You don't hear anymore from Peron. The impression here is not that he will remain as a figurehead, but that his resignation is being asked for."

Charpentier said he has heard that Gen. Franklin Lucero's "compromise" government has proclaimed an amnesty releasing most of the rebel prisoners, including 160 navy men arrested last Thursday after the rebel bombing of the capital.

"It's apparent that, for the moment, the rebellion is over and Peron is not the country's leader any more. It is a military regime under Gen. Lucero."

MANY VOTES REJECTED

Two-thirds of the estimated 31,000 eligible voters cast ballots. In the 1953 election, when only 18,240 voted, Mr. Fair got 9,233 votes, a record 4,707 plurality over his Liberal opponent in a five-way fight.

Dr. Smith said: "I am not conceding until the official count takes place on June 29."

Hal Yerxa, Dr. Smith's campaign manager, said the number of spoiled ballots was "terrific." He said they ranged as high as 38 in one poll.

The election climaxed one of the heaviest Liberal party drives in years. Four federal cabinet ministers spoke on Dr. Smith's behalf.
